Nazis Uncertain About Mediation By United States

Roosevelt's Request for Outline of War Aims Might Bring Answer, Is Berlin Report

Alarms Are Heard

Air Alarms Are Sounded in Lyon, Marseille; Nazis Occupy Schools

(By The Associated Press)

Europe's conflict continued today to be fought mainly on the verbal front.

British military authorities offered the "conviction" that disagreement between Adolf Hitler and his general staff caused "indecisive tactics" by the Nazis on the western front.

German authorities already had hinted their tactics would be changed from the defensive to the offensive—but at the same time weighed anew how the Nazis would feel toward a mediation offer by President Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt's name was injected into formal peace talks in Germany October 6. German authorities said Hitler would accept an armistice if proposed by the American executive with a view to a general European settlement.

The talk ran its course in a week when Washington made clear it had received no formal invitation to offer mediation and even if it should receive one the chances were it would take no action unless assured in advance that Great Britain and France would listen.

Is Mentioned Again

Berlin introduced President Roosevelt's name again today, saying Germany would not be interested in any general mediation offer but would be likely to respond if he asked the belligerents to outline their war aims as a move toward finding a common basis for mediation.

Both French and German communiques recorded minor activity on the western front, but warplanes were busy.

A German scouting plane flew over the western coast of England and Wales, but the British announced it was driven away by defense aircraft.

It brought the war to the west coast for the first time. Anti-aircraft guns went into action in the industrial center of Manchester and the shipping area along the Mersey.

No bombs were dropped. Neither were bombs dropped by another German warplane which appeared over the Shetland Islands.

Air alarms were sounded in Lyon and Marseille as German airplanes continued flights over southeastern France.

The Bohemia-Moravia protectorate, the territory Germany took in the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, continued to test German authorities.

Hitler's black-shirted elite guards occupied Czech high schools and a technical institute and took away some 1,200 students.

There was no immediate explanation, but 2,000 students demonstrated on Wednesday against the government Germany set up in the protectorate.

A meeting of the allied supreme war council was planned in London; French Premier Daladier left Paris to attend.

The British war office called for 20,000 men for home defense battalions; at the same time a recruiting campaign opened to increase from 20,000 to 40,000 the strength of the women's auxiliary territorial service whose members serve as clerks, cooks, chauffeurs, etc.

Operations in the undeclared war between Japan and China shifted to southeastern China, near China's avenue to French Indo-China and British Burma. Japanese reported their forces had driven 30 miles north from the coast since Wednesday.

Evil Old Men, Wicked Old Women Fete Garner

Dallas, Nov. 17 (AP)—Spittoons were placed 40 feet away from tobacco chewers and snuff dipper as a bunch of "evil old men and wicked old women" toasted Vice President Garner with milk.

But don't be misled by the milk in their goblets, it was no namby-pamby affair.

The vile occasion was "dedicated to sin and corruption by the friends of the Honorable John N. Garner of Texas, vice president of the United States of America."

If it smacked of decency or of law and order "such incident or incidents were purely coincidental and had no reference to nice persons, living or dead," the bunch roared after a few rounds of liquor.

The rowdies were members of the Texas Editorial Association and friends of the vice president for 20 years.

Mother Comforts Accused Killer

When Lionel Grant, 29, was arraigned at Syracuse, N. Y., for the trunk murder of his roommate, Ernest Uhlig, 31, Grant's gray-haired mother, Mrs. Elida Stack, sought to comfort him. This scene occurred in city court, where Grant pleaded innocent to the charge.

Grappling Work Is Continued by Crews at Catskill

Minor Mishaps Mar Efforts of Searchers; Ernest Saxe Hurt Slightly; Boat Is Disabled

Grappling efforts concentrated in the channel where three bodies of the five hunters drowned in the Hudson river near Catskill, have been recovered, continued today without further results.

Crews of men will be kept at work dragging the river "until it is found that further efforts are futile," it was announced by one of the officials.

The body of William S. Riley, NYA district supervisor of Greene and Schoharie counties, was retrieved Wednesday, and yesterday when shortly over an hour the men who have been at work on the search since Monday, hauled out the bodies of Dr. William Harrison Herron, Stamford dentist, and Dr. John F. Redmond, dentist of Catskill.

Report Is Denied

Another report to the effect that the body of Earl C. Loudenslager, dental supplies salesman of this city, had been circulated yesterday, but this was denied by the officials today. His body along with that of James F. Roe of Catskill are the two yet to be recovered.

Minor accidents, experienced earlier in the week, continued today to mar the work of the grappling group. Ernest Saxe of Catskill, who volunteered his services in search of the bodies, injured a finger when it became caught in one of the steel grappling hooks and yesterday, one of the boats, "Barbara 2nd," was temporarily disabled when a rope became entangled in its propeller.

Saxe was treated for his injury by Dr. Mahlon H. Atkinson, Greene county coroner, following an attempt by one of the state troopers to cut loose the grappling hook with a pair of pliers.

The injured man was working on the boat in command of Sergeant James Rose, of the Catskill state police barracks, when the accident happened.

Capone Free After Seven Years in Prison

"Scarface Al" Capone appeared much thinner than when he entered prison seven years ago as he sat in an automobile and started this "one way" ride from Harrisburg, Pa., to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where he was formally released after doing time for income tax evasion. After release he entered a Baltimore hospital to be treated for paresis, and Attorney General Murphy announced three federal agents had been assigned to keep an eye on Capone "because certain things have come to our attention." A Chicago Times photographer took the picture.

Democracy Hinges Upon Peace, Says H. V. Kaltenborn

If we are to continue to have a democratic world it has got to be a peaceful world, H. V. Kaltenborn, noted radio commentator, told a capacity audience at the high school auditorium last night in his lecture here under auspices of the College Women's Club.

It is America's job now and always, the speaker indicated, to aid in impressing the world with the value of democratic principles, and this he stressed must be done without any active participation of the United States in any of Europe's conflicts.

"Because Europe is at war," declared the speaker, "is a greater reason why the United States should remain neutral."

More can be accomplished, Mr. Kaltenborn continued, by making the peoples of other nations conscious of democratic principles than by any kind of wars or conflicts which end only in added chaos.

Key to Solution

President Wilson's famous phrase, "Peace Without Victory," he said, "was the real key to the solution," of Europe's problems when the covenant of the League of Nations was being formed.

It remains true today, when it appears that the League of Nations effort has been a failure, that the secret of European peace lies in one word: "Moderation."

This quality, he pointed out, has been noticeably lacking in the effort of European nations to reach satisfactory adjustment of their problems and it is a word not found in such political philosophies as that of Hitlerism because "Hitler must remain dynamic."

"This war today," said Mr. Kaltenborn, "is a continuation of the power conflicts of three centuries with the 'haves' against the 'have-nots.' Stronger nations, he said, have continued in effect to disregard the rights of the smaller countries and this tendency has resulted in failure of such an ideology as the League of Nations.

The present problem abroad, he repeated, "is still a European situation," and one in which the United States does not intend to become involved, "but in times of war passions can be built up very quickly."

More Hatred Created

It is possible, however, he explained, that "as the war goes on and as Germany becomes more reckless, that things will be done to create more hatred. Let us be mindful of this, and let us remember that we are not directly concerned with European problems."

"We can't feel safe and at our ease," he continued, "when there is a war, for the world is too integrated for that. We're not isolated nor insulated and the United States will remain economically and morally concerned. Beyond such interests, however, he stressed again, this nation must not become involved."

In a sense, he told his listeners, "Europe was at war before Germany invaded Germany." There were war threats and a war of economics in progress. Now, even though there is active fighting, "there is comparatively little difference."

This new war, however, he stressed, has been one of gradual transition from peace to war. It is something different from anything we've ever experienced before. Nobody is keen for it and everybody feels that nothing can be gained from it."

At this point the speaker drew a verbal contrast of conditions at the outbreak of the last world war and conditions which preceded that which is now in progress.

"Europe is sober and solemn today," he said. "The transition came quietly and differently than ever before. There are no illusions today among the people of the nations involved as to their getting what they want through war."

Sentiment throughout all Europe, even during the Nazi program of invasion, remained in favor of peace, he explained. It changed, he added, only after the seizure of Prague. Then he said sentiment grew in both England and France among the people in favor of stopping Germany.

Is Virtual Warning

This fact, he declared, stood virtually as a warning to the leaders of both countries that their respective national policies would require measures in opposition to Nazism. "Psychological changes came in these nations of Europe after the seizure of Prague."

The speaker then repeated: "Now we're not concerned ourselves here in America to such an extent that we must get into the fighting line. Our sensible policy must be one of self defense and we must not take the attitude that we can cure all the evils of the world by just going to war."

Mr. Kaltenborn was introduced to the audience by Miss Ethel Hull, president of the College Women's Club.

Florida Is Using Shark's Liver Oil for Vitamin A

Tallahassee, Fla., Nov. 17 (AP)—The common shark, long considered the pest of Florida's salt waters, is giving up his liver to make a $100,000-a-year business.

The oil from the liver is rich in vitamin A, and is used in medicinal compounds. His fins make soup, his skin makes leather, and his teeth are used as prizes by a cereal manufacturing company.

In three years, shark catching and processing has grown from a $5,000-a-year infant. University of Florida tests showed shark oil to be from 4 to 15 times as high in vitamin as ordinary cod liver oil.

There are now 11 shark fishing stations with about $50,000 invested in boats and equipment. It is estimated 10,000 sharks were caught last year, and produced 9,000 gallons of oil. This year's catch may run to 20,000 fish.

Martin Trial Cost To State May Run Close to $100,000

Proceedings Which Mean Acquittal for Justice Cost $70,000 Alone for Senators

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 17 (AP)—Completion of Senate ouster proceedings resulting in exoneration of Kings County Judge George W. Martin left the state today an estimated $70,000 bill for expenses.

Cost of the hearing was set by Senate fiscal authorities at about $1,000-a-day from the opening September 6 with presentation of six charges accusing the 63-year-old judge of "judicial misconduct" until the close yesterday with a 28 to 19 vote for Martin's retention—15 ballots less than the necessary two-thirds for removal.

In addition to the $70,000 expenses which included $10-a-day for senators, approximately $700-a-week traveling expenses, clerks and stenographers salaries and costs of maintenance and operation, officials foresaw possibility of a defense bill that might boost the total close to $100,000.

1935 Case Cited

While the state is not obligated to pay defense counsel in such proceedings, the officials pointed out, payment was made to attorneys after the unsuccessful prosecution of removal charges against William F. X. Googhan, the Kings county district attorney.

Martin, ill of diabetes in a New York city hospital during the last stage of the hearing, was the 16th defendant brought before the Senate since 1886 and the eighth to be exonerated. Six were removed and two resigned before a verdict was given.

The jurist, free upon recovery of his illness to resume his $25,000-a-year post which he has held for 19 years, was exonerated on the 26th ballot.

Fifteen Republicans and four Democrats voted for removal of the Democratic jurist while 10 Republicans and 18 Democrats voted against removal as recommended by Governor Lehman.

John Harlan Amen, special assistant attorney general who prosecuted Martin, faced the possibility of a sudden end to his investigation of Brooklyn's officialdom as the board of estimate considered his request for $174,000 to carry on his work another six months.

Amen, who unsuccessfully prosecuted Judge Martin on a charge of accepting a $1,000 a month bribe, asked the funds for the current month and for the succeeding five months.

Ex-Office Boy Is New President of General Electric

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—General Electric Co. announced today retirement of Owen D. Young and Gerard Swope from active management of the company. C. E. Wilson will become president and Philip D. Reed chairman of the board. The changes become effective January 1, 1940.

Wilson has been executive vice president of the company and Reed assistant to the president. Young and Swope will assume the titles, respectively of honorary chairman and honorary president.

Wilson began his career as an office boy at the age of 13 with the Sprague Electric Co., a former constituent company of General Electric.

He is a native of New York city. Reed, who was born in Milwaukee, Wis., joined General Electric in its law department in 1926.

The elevation of Reed and Wilson came almost as a birthday gift to both, for yesterday Reed was 40 years old and tomorrow Wilson will be 53.

The directors of General Electric declared a dividend on the common stock of 65 cents a share, payable December 20 to holders of record November 24. It brings the total common stock payments for the year to $1.40 a share compared with 90 cents in 1938.

Young, who is 65 years old, was born in Van Hornesville, N. Y., and put himself through Boston University's law school by tutoring and serving as a librarian. His law work brought him into engineering circles where he attracted the attention of Charles A. Coffin, then General Electric president. In 1913 Coffin named Young general counsel for the company. His work with the electrical concern widened and he became known as one of the leaders in the public utility industry.

When Coffin resigned in 1922, Young was chosen chairman of the board to succeed him. Subsequently he has taken the part of an active leader in national business and political affairs.

Swope will be 67 on December 1. His first job came as a result of a desire to go from St. Louis (Continued from Page 13)

Tells Court in New York He Regards Fritz Kuhn 'Nuisance to Community and Threat'

Cartoon on Leader Sent by La Guardia to Dewey

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, called as a defense witness, testified today he felt "contempt" for Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund leader, on trial for the alleged theft of bond funds.

As Dewey entered the courtroom and sat beside his aide, Assistant District Attorney Herman J. McCarthy, who has been conducting the state's case, Defense Counsel Peter L. F. Sabbatino said "I suggest that we interrupt this questioning so that he may take the stand."

A defense witness, George Froebese of Milwaukee, mid-west department leader of the bund, had been testifying up to that point. "Oh, don't interrupt it on my account," Dewey said good-humoredly.

Judge James G. Wallace directed Froebese to step down, however, and Dewey was sworn in as a witness—called in an attempt to support the defense assertion that the prosecution of Kuhn was in fact a "persecution" based on politics and was for the purpose of "destroying him."

Introduces Letter

To bolster this contention, Sabbatino introduced a letter written last spring by the mayor of Portland, Ore., to Mayor LaGuardia's secretary, enclosing a photographic copy of a cartoon in the newspaper, the Portland Oregonian.

The cartoon depicted Kuhn as a small figure between the two larger figures of Dewey and LaGuardia, and the caption said: "I saw him first."

On the margin of the letter, which LaGuardia had forwarded to Dewey, the New York mayor had written:

"Dear Tom—you can have it. Judge Wallace interrupted Sabbatino's questioning of Dewey, regarding the district attorney's knowledge of Kuhn, to ask:

"What is the object of this inquiry—illegal seizure of records?" Sabbatino replied he was not proposing to go into circumstances surrounding Dewey's seizure of the Bund's records, but Dewey said he wanted to answer the question.

"Never having seen this man," he said, glancing at Kuhn, "nor ever having had personal contact with him, I cannot say that I have animus against him, but I must say that I regarded him as a nuisance to the community and a threat to the civil liberties of the community if he became more important than he was."

"You have hatred for Kuhn?" asked Sabbatino.

"I want to use the word contempt, I'd say I have," Dewey replied.

"Affects District Attorney"

Sabbatino thereupon asserted that "such a feeling of hatred and hostility has been created against this defendant that it has affected the district attorney of New York."

"We will argue," the defense attorney continued, "that evidence has been distorted and records have disappeared."

Opening of the defense was marked by repeated angry exchanges between Judge Wallace and Sabbatino during which Sabbatino seven times asked for a mistrial, insisting the judge was prejudicing the case.

The prosecution received a setback when Benjamin Blattner, an accountant for Dewey, returned to the stand to admit a major error in his earlier testimony against Kuhn.

Blattner said that as a result of a miscalculation he had testified Tuesday there was a shortage of $4,424 in the Bund's "legal defense fund, but that the actual amount missing was $674."

As a result of this testimony, Kuhn is now accused of stealing less than $2,000, instead of $5,641, as originally charged.

By questioning other Bund officials and members, Sabbatino sought to prove that the Bund operated on a "leadership principle," or "Fuehrer prinzip," under which the leader as he wished and his followers obeyed his dictates.

Bund Treasurer James Wheeler-Hill said, in reply to questions by Judge Wallace, that the "leader" could "buy a rachehorse" with Bund money if he wished, or even "throw it down the sewer."

Farm Conditions in This Area Are Better Than Year Ago and on Up Grade, Ulster Loan Group Is Told

Farm conditions in this section and through the northwest are more favorable than a year ago, and apparently are on the up-grade, declared Edward H. Thomson, president of the Federal Land Bank, Springfield, Mass., at the annual stockholders' meeting of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association at Trowbridge Farm, Kyserville, Wednesday.

A large group of the association's stockholders turned out for the meeting, which convened at noon, when a special lunch was served. In the afternoon, after the presentation of reports by Chester C. DuMont of Ulster Park, the association's secretary, on activities of the past year, Mr. Thomson was the principal speaker.

Fred Simpson of Accord, the association's president, presided. One reason cited by the speaker for his optimistic outlook for agriculture in the northeast is the pickup in industrial activity. "A trend which should increase the purchasing power of city people and thus reflect easier conditions for farmers."

Formed in 1918, the group operates as a cooperative farm mortgage agency and a unit of the Federal Land Bank system. In the past 21 years it has made 371 first-mortgage loans, mostly in Ulster county, for $1,411,000. On September 30 of this year, 323 loans were outstanding for $1,100,000.

In addition to first mortgages, the association has had part in the granting of 289 second-mortgage loans, mostly on second mortgages, since the summer of 1933, the funds having been used chiefly to refinance previous debts. Sixteen of these loans have been repaid in full and six of them foreclosed, leaving 287 unpaid for $829,000.

Complimenting the officers and the stockholders of the association for their excellent record over the past two decades, Mr. Thomson pointed out that only four first-mortgage loans out of a total of 171 have been foreclosed during the past 21 years and the group has no acquired real estate on hand.

In this connection the speaker outlined the policy of the bank and the local association in the handling of acquired property. If a farm is worthy of continuing in agricultural use, the first concern is to maintain and build up the fertility of the soil so that the land will be good productive condition when it is taken over by a new owner. ### Keefe to Remodel Dewey's Residence Damaged by Blaze

Charles S. Keefe, architect of Lucas avenue, this city, has been commissioned by New York City District Attorney Thomas L. Dewey to remodel his recently-acquired residence at Quaker Hill, Pawling, Dutchess county.

The Dewey house, which the famous racket-buster purchased recently, was damaged to the extent of $2,000 last week when a painter's blow torch ignited the structure.

The residence is a short distance from Lowell Thomas's farm and is of colonial architecture, has about 12 rooms and is almost a hundred years old. The property also consists of a 200-acre farm with outbuildings.

The Big Kick's in Not Being Rich

YES, it's nice to have a lot of money to spend. But don't forget there's also plenty of fun to be had "on the way up" to affluence.

There's the satisfaction of achieving something better than you're used to—stepping up, for instance, to this smart, swift, solid Buick after you've been driving run-of-the-mill cars.

Just you feel the silk-smooth surge of its great 107 horsepower micropoise-balanced straight-eight engine—and you know that all that went before was only preliminary to this big thrill.

You flip the firm, easy gearshift—and the click of its action under your hands says here's the real thing in precision-made mechanisms, not just a stopgap to tide you over.

You roll your steady, even-going, firm-riding way, and the taut, staunch, everywhere-substantial feel of this fine carriage brings a sense of "getting somewhere" as thoroughly satisfying as owning your first gilt-edged bond.

You've got action in this honey. You've got style. You've got value, and everybody knows it. You've got life—you'll romp up hills and tame the wide-open spaces and doff your cap to no one on the way.

And there's nothing light, or loose, or tinny, or labored about it anywhere. Here's the sure, steady, take-it-in-stride demeanor of a car that's competent-plus.

Suppose you have to stretch a bit to buy this Buick—well, you'll find that will only make you prize this great eight all the more!

So go look at the car that can mark a milestone in your life. It doesn't cost a thing to find out how little a really good car will stand you delivered.

The model illustrated is the Buick SUPER model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional. No extra charge for the two-tone finish shown.*

100 DIE WHEN FIRE SWEEPS OIL TOWN ON STILTS

This picture, rushed by plane to Miami, shows the charred piles that mark the spot where an estimated 100 died as flames swept through the oil town of Lagunillas, Venezuela, built on stilts over lake Maracaibo. The oil wells in the background, like the homes of the workers, are built over the lake, and the fire was said to have resulted when oil lines broke and spread oil through the lake waters.

Byrne Brothers to Conduct Business

As previously stated in this paper the monument business of Byrne Brothers will continue under the ownership of Mildred V. Byrne, widow of the late James E. Byrne, who with his two brothers, Matthew and William, established the business 30 years ago. William B. Byrne, the surviving partner, sold his interest in the property and business occupying the entire block on Broadway, Henry and Van Deusen streets to Mrs. Byrne.

The business will be conducted by the sons, James and Arthur, who have been connected with the concern for many years. Under the tutelage of their father and uncle they have become versed in all the branches of the memorial manufacturing field in which they have spent 17 and 10 years respectively. James is a graduate of Columbia University School of Memorial Design and some of this section's finest memorials were designed by him and constructed by their firm. Arthur served his apprenticeship in the field of construction and erection of memorials and his knowledge of this important phase of the monument business will stand in good stead. The employees, who have been working for the concern for an average of more than 20 years each, will continue with the new management, thereby maintaining the same high standard of workmanship for which Byrne Brothers memorials have been noted.

Down through the years these Kingston manufactured monuments have been erected in more than six states further establishing the quality of Kingston made products far afield. Their present stock includes granite and marble memorials quarried in 13 states of the union and imported granite from four of the European countries.

It has been found advisable to reduce the exceptionally large stock of memorials and to accomplish this objective they will conduct a sale which will be advertised in newspaper columns until a proper reduction in their stock has been made.

County Holy Name Forms Regional Society at Parley

The organization of a Regional Holy Name Society, comprising all of the branches of the Society in Ulster county, was effected at a meeting of various representatives of the branches Tuesday evening at St. Joseph's school hall.

The meeting had been called by the Rev. Edmund Burke, regional spiritual director, at the instigation of the Rev. Martin J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties. Invitations to attend had been sent to the representative group of the societies who formed the general committee in perfecting the details for the highly successful Holy Name rally held here on Sunday, October 1.

Father Burke in addressing the group stated he requested them to assemble for three good reasons, namely, to congratulate them on the splendid job they had done in staging the rally and to extend his sincerest thanks for the wonderful cooperation extended to him by the committee, secondly, to report to the committee that all expenses of the rally had been paid in full by the Archdiocesan union and thirdly that he would like to see a permanent regional organization effected.

Dean Drury voiced his congratulations on the rally and also expressed his gratitude for the fine work of the committee and the cooperation of all of the branches. Dean Drury also stated he would like to see a real regional organization of all of the societies in this area.

In conformity with the expressed desires of Fathers Drury and Burke, the assembled group proceeded to form a regional organization by electing officers. City Judge Matthew Cahill of St. Joseph's, was elected president; Gustave Kogel of St. Mary's was elected vice-president; P. J. Beichert of Presentation, Port Jervis, was elected secretary; Leo Schupp of St. Peter's was elected treasurer and Eugene Thornton of St. Mary's, Saugerties, was elected marshal. It was decided that the executive committee of the regional organization should consist of the president and two delegates from each branch of the society in the region. Each branch will be contacted and asked to select their delegates so that at the next meeting, scheduled for Sunday evening, December 17th, at St. Joseph's hall, the organization will be completed.

WIND FROM FINLAND

The latest Soviet peevish against Finland is about floods. They've been having high water in northern Russia, and the Bolsheviks blame it on the Finns. They figure it out this way.

Russia has a weather treaty with Finland, whereby the latter is supposed to notify the former of any abnormal weather heading eastward. Those rascally Finns, evidently in an unneighborly mood, failed to pass the word on when an eastbound gale came along. So the water rose in the Gulf of Finland and flooded the Neva river and nearly drowned a lot of Reds in Leningrad.

It looks from here as if the wicked Finns are entitled to a good "belly laugh." It's the first time we've heard of a nation using weather as a diplomatic weapon. The Finns evidently have something.

At the time when this northwester blew in and stood the Neva on its head, and gave the Reds an unaccustomed bath, the Finnish mission trying to settle the boundary problem in Moscow had just returned home, indignant at the harsh terms laid down by Stalin.

What to do? Believe it or not, those Finnish statesmen probably got so mad that they raised that wind themselves, and sent the high water for a just punishment. And they may raise a lot more wind and water against Russia before they get through.

MARLENE'S BIG THRILL

One of the nation's proud and pleased "first-voters" on November 7, was the movie actress, Marlene Dietrich, who received her final citizenship papers last July. Miss Dietrich is frankly enthusiastic about her new status. She came from her native land, Germany, as an adult, and after many trips back and forth decided that she wished to change her citizenship. Voting the other day was "one of the biggest events" in her life, she said.

Americans hear of Miss Dietrich's new citizenship and her first vote only because she is a popular star of the Hollywood screen. There are always many naturalized first-voters about whom we do not hear because their places in American life are less conspicuous. Yet they, too, have become Americans from choice, after discovering what it is like, what its democracy is, what freedom and opportunity are found here. Many of them will become excellent citizens, contributing much of value to the country's progress and culture.

Native-born citizens who consider the reasons for this group's thrill at being Americans and voting may find their own appreciation of their country strengthened.

CHEFS BY ANY OTHER NAME

The Chefs de Cuisine Association of America and the Societe Culinaire Philanthropique, member organizations of the Congress of Chefs and Culinarists, are about to Americanize the printed food lists of our hotel dining rooms and finer restaurants. They hope to have them called bills of fare instead of menu cards, and all the edibles mentioned will be given their plain English names.

This reform will be greeted with delight by most diners, although many of us were beginning to understand the exotic names for familiar dishes, and some may even have enjoyed the supposed extra elegance they gave to a meal.

But if the master cooks are going to be so sensible about the dishes they prepare and name, should they not extend the simplification of names to their own societies?

REFORMED CHEESE

Limburger, says a dictionary, is a semi-hard, unpressed cheese originally made in the Belgian province of Limburg, having a peculiar odor and a nutty flavor.

It is also made in Wisconsin, but laboratory experts there have conspired to alter its original nature. They have discovered how to do away with the "peculiar odor."

If the nutty flavor remains, we suppose the cheese-eating public will still be happy. That remains to be seen, however.

It may be that the true Limburger enthusiast likes the aroma and will find the cheese less to his taste when it is gone. On the other hand, there have been many cheese-eaters who drew the line at Limburger because they didn't like the odor. They will doubtless add it to their cheese trays now.

Will the new trade make up for loss of the old? Or will it be necessary to cater to both groups, making Limburger with and without the identifying odor, to meet all demands?

MOVIES AS AN ART

That the motion picture has been accepted as an art form worthy of study is shown by the attention now being paid to it by museums of art. A current museum exhibit on the subject is called "The Making of a Contemporary Film" and spreads out before observers the story of the technicolor production of "Tom Sawyer."

There are several hundred different items in the exhibit, beginning with first and later editions of Mark Twain's book. The original script is there. So, too, are pages from the original scenario and later revisions. (Do movie fans know the difference between the scenario and the script?)

Other details shown or explained in some way are the "talent hunt" which involved interviewing 25,000 children, and screen tests for many of them, and the extensive research into local history, architecture, trades, costumes, social customs, speech, and so on, of the period of which Mark Twain wrote. Other general headings in the exhibit are "Production Charts", "Censorship", "Make-Up", "Costumes and Props", "Stills" and "Sneak Preview."

Least any reader doubt that censorship could possibly be involved in this connection, it should be told that there was much correspondence on the subject of the swimming hole and swimmers in it, the racial question, and use of the word "Lord".

Such an exhibition gives the movie-goer respect for the work that goes into the production of a feature film.

We begin to see how the Golden Age will come to America. The old folks will all have old age pensions large enough to support themselves and the young folks, and nobody will have to work.

Californians seem to have lost their taste for ham 'n' eggs.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

MUCOUS COLITIS

I often speak of mucous colitis because it is probably the commonest abdominal ailment for which physicians are consulted. The outstanding symptoms are more or less pain or distress in abdomen, diarrhoea mostly but sometimes spastic constipation, gas, and considerable mucous comes away in the stool.

Mucous colitis is now considered due to nervousness and emotional disturbances, a tendency which can be inherited just as can may fever or other allergic ailments.

The persistent diarrhoea, the colic or spastic pains and the mucous in the stool makes the patient believe that there is something seriously wrong with her bowel—that it is probably badly inflamed and may later develop into cancer. As a matter of fact, these patients do not die of this condition and if they can learn a real philosophy of life, it often passes away.

In speaking of mucous colitis, Dr. Walter Alvarez, Mayo Clinic, points out that there is really no "inflammation" of the colon (large intestine) as colitis implies and that if patients really knew this they would be less alarmed and be more free of their symptoms.

"If a patient with a sensitive colon is ever to be really helped, she must be made to realize that she has a peculiar nervous system which will cause her discomfort off and on, perhaps for the rest of her days. It will cause the bowel (colon) to get sore whenever she gets excited or upset nervously or when she is very tired or when she is coming down with a cold or perhaps when she gets badly constipated or takes too many laxatives or when she eats some particular food to which she is sensitive (allergic)."

If the woman has good sense, she will see then that she must not keep hunting for a complete cure but must settle down to live with her bowel avoiding as far as she can those influences that tend to upset her bowel.

I am handing on this information because of the very large number of individuals who suffer with mucous colitis, most of whom consider it a serious ailment, and also because of the high standing of the physician who gives us this information.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

RAILROADS SPRING SURPRISE

Babson Says Most Carrier Securities Under-Valued

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 17—Business continues to gain momentum. This week it is at a new 1939 high. Furthermore, the peak has not yet been reached.

With a record-breaking Christmas trade, December should see the highest level of business activity since the boom days of a decade ago. Hidden in this welter of good news is a real story—the story of how the railroads have again cheated the grave-diggers.

For years, economists have forecast that if the railroads could get back half the traffic they lost between 1929 and 1934, the industry could be rescued.

Five years slipped by, however, and people lost hope. Yet, in the short space of four months, the long awaited traffic boom has finally arrived. Carloadings were dropping along at 550,000 per week at the end of July. Today they are above 800,000—closer to the million mark of 1929 than to the half-million mark of 1934.

The persistent diarrhoea, the colic or spastic pains and the mucous in the stool makes the patient believe that there is something seriously wrong with her bowel—that it is probably badly inflamed and may later develop into cancer. As a matter of fact, these patients do not die of this condition and if they can learn a real philosophy of life, it often passes away.

As a matter of fact, these patients do not die of this condition and if they can learn a real philosophy of life, it often passes away.

Industry, I am giving the average price of 30 leading railroad stocks on the same date for each of these years:

	Loadings	Price
1939	805,000	$31.30
1938	637,000	31.80
1937	690,000	33.40
1936	785,000	30.10
1935	628,000	36.20
1934	538,000	35.30
1933	578,000	39.90
1932	537,000	26.10
1931	690,000	51.50
1930	881,000	99.00
1929	1,050,000	127.80

Note that today, based on traffic volume, railroad stocks are cheaper than at any time in the past decade, and that means at any time in history. Carloadings are slightly higher than in 1936 at this time while rail stocks are 50 per cent lower! The same is true of bonds. Ten $1000 bonds—one each of the ten most important bankrupt railroads—can be bought for a total of $1000 today. These same ten bonds would have cost $3500 in 1937. Yet the railroad picture is much brighter today than it was then!

Doubts Fair Treatment

Most investors are convinced that the railroads' basic problems are still with them: Competition, labor, taxes, and politics. I am sure that the railroads will never again experience the prosperity they enjoyed in the 1920's. Yet, through efficient management and a fair level of general business, two-thirds of the mileage could earn enough to pay big taxes, good wages, interest on bonds, and small dividends—if government and labor give them half a chance. Developments in connection with the Old Colony Railroad in Massachusetts make me doubt this, however.

With the type of political leadership we have now, with the public's unfair attitude toward private property, with our short-sighted labor leadership, I would not advise anyone to put railroad securities in the baby's bank. On the other, I believe that two-thirds of all railroad securities are today under-valued on the basis of current traffic and earnings. Investors should hold their rail securities for a market rise and then clean out the rotten ones. Meanwhile, manufacturers, jobbers, and salesmen should find railroad purchasing agents in buying mood. Moreover, some people now out of work should find jobs with the roads themselves or with their suppliers.

Rarely Has Any President Opportunity of Naming Majority to United States Supreme Court

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)
 Washington, Nov. 17.—President Roosevelt has at last been given by the hand of fate the opportunity to name five out of the nine justices of the Supreme Court of the United States. Four he has already nominated and the fifth will be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Pierce Butler.

It comes rarely to any president to be able to name a majority of the Supreme Court within a single term of four years, and it is particularly significant that this opportunity has arisen within the short space of two and a half years since the time when Mr. Roosevelt started his public attack on the decisions of the court and urged Congress to pass a bill to enlarge the court by adding more justices so as to overcome what he termed the conservative point of view of the bench.

Until the death of Mr. Butler, notwithstanding that four new justices had been appointed, it still was true that five of the original "nine old men" who unanimously declared the NRA unconstitutional were still in active service. Of the five vacancies occurring in the last two and a half years, only two were due to death, and two to voluntary "retirement." Justices Brandeis, Sutherland, and Van Devanter are still technically members of the judiciary, drawing retired pay.

The fifth justice to be appointed by Mr. Roosevelt may have a difficult time getting confirmed by the United States Senate. The nomination will doubtless be sent to the Senate next January, and if the nominee is of the radical type and has in the past taken a position in favor of the so-called "packing" bill of 1937, the independent Democrats and Republicans may decide to make an issue of it, thus reviving for the 1940 campaign the whole Supreme Court controversy which has arisen since the 1936 election.

There is one man who would be readily confirmed. He now is a justice on the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. His name is Harold Stephens. He comes from Utah and was runner-up in the last process by which names were submitted to the President of the attorney general, but the friends of Chairman Douglas, of the securities and exchange commission, succeeded in persuading Mr. Roosevelt that the objections due to geographical considerations were really not tenable. Mr. Douglas hailed originally from the northwest and, though he has not lived there very much, he was finally considered by Congress to be eligible to fill the vacancy as representative of the west.

The law does not require that appointments be filled on a geographical basis, but it has been the custom for Presidents to try to keep the court balanced regionally. The east now has more appointees on the bench than is customary and hence another appointment from the Rocky Mountain region—this time, a man who lived there most of his life—would give the supreme court the much-discussed geographical balance.

Judge Stephens fits into the picture from another angle. While religion does not play a part, nevertheless, all things being equal, Presidents do try to have every faith represented. Justice Butler was a Catholic. Judge Stephens is a Catholic. His ability to serve as a supreme court justice was attested by the fact that the attorney general recommended him when the last vacancy occurred. He is the logical choice this time.

As a matter of fact, once before a "runner-up," so to speak, got the nomination. Originally, Stanley Reed was recommended for the vacancy which was filled by the appointment of Senator Hugo Black, and the next time a nomination was made it came to Mr. Reed.

When Judge Stephens, who is a Democrat, came to Washington, he served as an assistant attorney general and stood so highly that, when a vacancy occurred on the all-important court of appeals of the District of Columbia, his selection was widely acclaimed. He is particularly familiar with the problems of conservation law which arise out of the west and would make a fitting successor in that respect either to Justice Van Devanter, who hailed from Wyoming, or Justice Sutherland of Utah, whose familiarity with western problems has not been replaced by recent appointments.

Mr. Stephens did not favor the enlargement of the supreme court as sponsored by the President in 1937. Like many other lawyers, he expressed himself in the subject moderately and, of course, with the greatest friendliness to Mr. Roosevelt. There have been in other judicial appointments, has selected lawyers who were opposed to his supreme court enlargement plan, so it is not believed this circumstance would prevent an appointment. The principal advantage in appointing Judge Stephens, entirely apart from his ability, lies in the fact that he would be quickly confirmed. For he is widely and favorably known on Capitol Hill among Republicans and Democrats. (Reproduction rights reserved).

Chapter 36 The Inquest

THE tension at Tuck's garden party had been unbearable, that at the inquest was beyond words. The announcement that there would be an inquest on the body of Miss Lissey had thrown the campus into turmoil, or rather, those of the group who did not already expect it.

The day was very hot. The inquest had been called in the corner of a stuffy little room in the court house. The windows were dusty and streaked, and the varnish on the heavy plain chairs and tables was sticky in the heat. But no one seemed to notice. They filed in silently, and sat down without murmuring about the weather or the discomfort.

Alix Lissey, Spinster, was dead. She had died of the effects of poisoning on Sunday, at the age of fifty-two. Only Mrs. Deane showed any interest as that fact was read out.

The coroner was an apple-cheeked little man with a figure like a robin's, and a high chirping voice quite out of keeping with death, and death by violence in particular. He put his questions cheerfully, with no apparent realization of the dreadful meaning that might lie behind the answers. Yet he let no single point escape him, and once or twice let his gaze wander as if by accident to the District Attorney and the Police Commissioner, sitting quietly at the back of the room.

Tuck was the first witness called. "Mrs. Forrester, the deceased was your guest on the afternoon of the day she died?"

"She was."

"At what time did she arrive at your house?"

"About quarter after four, I think."

"Just what do you mean? Ten minutes after four or twenty-five minutes after?"

"Almost exactly quarter after, I—I had been watching the time."

"Why had you been watching the time, Mrs. Forrester?"

"I don't know."

"The exact reason, please."

"The conversation wasn't going very well," Tuck said bravely. "I was hoping for a diversion, when I saw Miss Lissey coming."

"That does not place the time."

"The Devoes had come exactly at four o'clock," Tuck explained. "They had been there about fifteen minutes. I remember looking at my watch at twelve minutes after, and in just a minute Miss Lissey came."

"So it was with the Devoes that the conversation lagged?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"I don't know."

"Just what was this conversation that lagged, Mrs. Forrester? Can you repeat it?"

"Why—it wasn't really a conversation at all, Mr. Devoe, I think, was talking to Miss Temple. I said something to Mrs. Devoe about the sundial and her broke in. His mother didn't seem to hear me, and he explained to her."

"Had you noticed that Mrs. Devoe was deaf before that time?"

"Yes."

"Preoccupied?"

"No. I didn't think she was deaf then. It was just—just that she was preoccupied."

"There was more to the conversation?"

"No. Miss Lissey came just then. Seating the Devoes and greeting them and Mrs. Mathison had taken the rest of the time."

"Then Mrs. Devoe was preoccupied when she first came to the party?"

"She seemed to be."

"Did you note signs of preoccupation in any other of your guests?"

"No."

"Did this preoccupation of Mrs. Devoe continue all through the afternoon?"

"Perhaps I shouldn't have called it preoccupation, Dr. Mayhew. Tuck said honestly, 'Mrs. Devoe is always very quiet and self-contained.'"

"What do you mean by always?"

"Since I have known her."

"That is, within the last ten years?"

"Yes."

He paused. His round little blue eyes regarded her seriously. "Mrs. Forrester, you are ready to swear that there was originally no poison in any of the food served at your house on Sunday?"

"Certainly, Dr. Mayhew."

"Your servant—would you consider her to be capable of putting poison in anyone's food?"

Charlotte Jean, at the side of the room, gasped audibly. Tuck gave her a little reassuring smile.

"Most certainly not. She is the last person in the world who would do such a thing."

"She has worked for you for some time?"

"Two years."

"You were with Miss Lissey when she died, Mrs. Forrester. Did she advance any statement there that might throw light on her death?"

"Just what do you mean, Dr. Mayhew?"

"Did she suggest that she knew that she was dying, or that she knew she had been poisoned?"

"Yes," Tuck said quietly, with a quiver in her lip. "She said, 'I know too much.'"

The clock suddenly ticked loudly, clearly, in the room.

"You understood her, Mrs. Forrester? Do you know what she meant?"

"Yes—I do."

"Does that not suggest to you that she knew she was dying?"

"Yes, I think she knew. Before we did."

"And she knew why she was dying? Why, for instance, let us say, wanted her to die?"

"Yes."

"Mrs. Forrester, did you get the impression that Miss Lissey had committed suicide?"

"No," Tuck said clearly. "No."

"Thank you, Charlotte Jean Soames."

Charlotte Jean, with a very white face and a nose red from being rubbed in her excitement, curtsied a little as she made her answers.

"Miss Soames, did you put poison in any food or drink that was served in Mrs. Forrester's house on Sunday?"

"No, sir. I should say not. I don't know nothing about poison, sir."

"Well then, did anyone come into your kitchen on Sunday and tamper with the food?"

"No, sir. Nobody came into my kitchen on Sunday for anything whatever, except that Gordon Deane, eating of all the cookies, but that was after the rest had had their tea, sir. Unless you mean Mr. Devoe, and he only came for a glass of water."

"Hardly herself?"

"A GLASS of water?"

"Yes, sir. For his mother, he said. She was feeling faint like."

"I see. Did he touch anything except his glass of water?"

"He carried out a tray for me, sir, but there wasn't no food on it."

"An empty tray?"

"No, sir. It was a tray of leucopis."

"Full or empty?"

"Full, sir. Mrs. Forrester had been pouring in the garden, but some of them wanted their cups filled again, and the tea she had wasn't hot enough so she sent me in with the cups on a tray to fill them in the kitchen. That was the tray Mr. Devoe carried out, sir."

"Can you remember whether or not Miss Lissey's cup was on that tray?"

"No, sir. I never knew whose cups they was."

He turned aside for a moment to Tuck. "Mrs. Forrester, can you answer the last question?"

"No, Dr. Mayhew. I didn't know that Mr. Devoe had carried out a tray of cups."

"You don't remember whether Miss Lissey's cup went into the house to be filled or not?"

"I'm sorry, Dr. Mayhew, I can't remember."

He turned back to Charlotte Jean, now rubbing her nose frantically.

"None of the other guests were in your kitchen at all, then?"

"No, sir."

"That will do, then."

Mr. Deane called next, but he had nothing to add to the evidence. However, his wife had.

"No, I didn't notice a single thing at all out of the ordinary on Sunday afternoon," she said, fumbling with her belt and pulling at the side of her strange hat. "That is, nothing that might explain at all the terrible thing that happened there—if it really did happen, which I simply can't credit for only ourselves were there, and I'm sure."

"I gather that you did observe something a little out of the ordinary, Mrs. Deane?" Dr. Mayhew broke in rather severely.

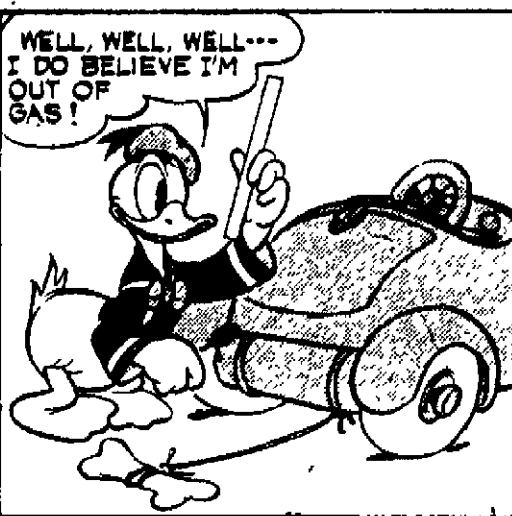

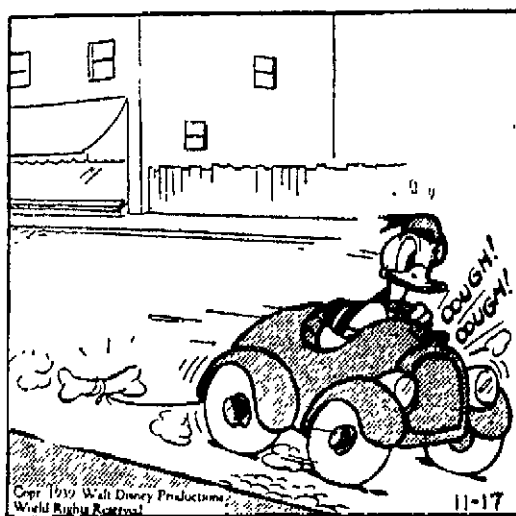

"Well, it wasn't particularly important, and I really don't like to speak of it. Poor Miss Lissey is dead, and I'm sure it seems almost sacrilegious."

"What is it, Mrs. Deane, may I ask?"

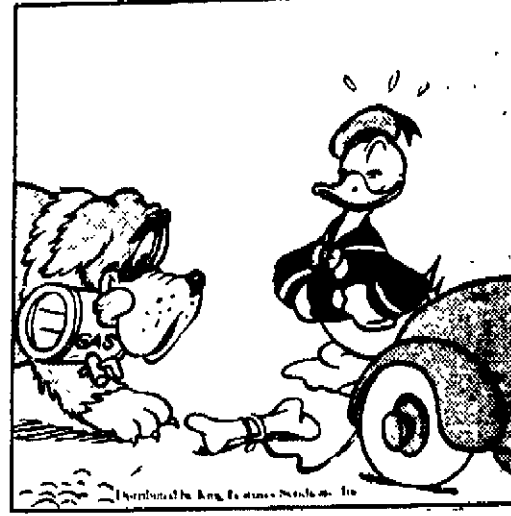

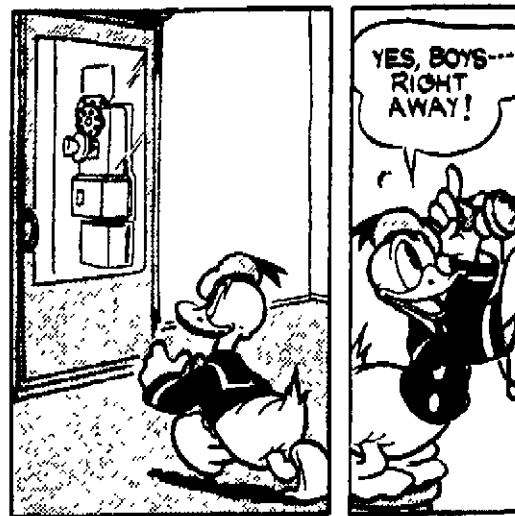

"Must I answer, then? Somehow it seems hardly delicate. It was just something that indicated to me that poor Miss Lissey was hardly herself that afternoon. She was so particular about her clothes, you know, so particular, and had such good taste. I used to marvel at the beautiful costumes she had—but of course she had the leisure to think about those things—well, I must go on—it was just that she wore a beautiful mauve flowered chiffon dress on Sunday with a horsehair hat to match, and I happened to notice—of course—I happened to notice that she wore a white slip underneath it. Now she has a simply lovely mauve slip that was made with that dress. I've seen it several times, and I'm quite sure she couldn't have been thinking at all when she dressed or she would never have appeared in the white one. Why, the mauve one made simply all the difference in the world."

Before and After

Two lovers walking down the street:

She trips, he murmurs, "Careful, sweet."

Now wed, they walk the selfsame street.

She trips, he growls: "Pick up your feet!"

Sally—Say, Dad, I want you to help me do something about Cal.

Dad—Now what? Want to marry that youngascal, I suppose?

Sally—No, Dad. You see, we were secretly married a month ago. I want you to help me get a divorce.

The store-proprietor, short-sighted, peering into his display window, turned to compliment the window cleaner he had hired:

Proprietor—My man, you have done a fine job. I can see into this display window just as if there wasn't any glass there.

Just then a policeman walked up.

Policeman (to merchant)—You'll have to get this broken glass off the sidewalk. You ought to hire someone who wouldn't fall through your windows.

Some Added Ads

Here are some badly mixed-up want ads, but they didn't appear in this newspaper:

For Sale: Antique chair by old man with hole in back and scratched leg.

Lost: Purse containing money; also small Jersey cow.

Wanted: A high-chair for lady with a cane seat.

Apartment For Rent: With maid, continuously steam heated.

House For Rent: By old man with large closets.

Lost: Collie dog by boy with split tongue and droop ear.

For Rent: House for ladies, newly renovated.

Lost: Dog belonging to girl, part Chow.

For Sale: Fine Jersey cow, will give enough hay to last all winter.

Here's a new interpretation of an old saying:

Lawyer—See that man, Johnny? Well, he's six feet in his boots.

Lawyer's Son—Go on, you don't expect me to believe that. You might as well say he's six heads in his hat.

The "Human" Race

"But man, proud man, Drest in a little brief authority, Most ignorant of what he's most assured, His glassy essence, like an angry ape, Plays such fantastic tricks before high heaven As make the angels weep."

Every responsibility we shirk weakens us. Every one we meet strengthens us.

Queer, how people take their rest:

First, there's the sailor who went row-boat on his day off, then the postman who took a long walk on Sundays and last, but not least, the worker in a pretzel factory—who went on a bonder.

The other way is better:

Mrs. Stubblefield—Is your husband a good provider, Dinah? Do you have chicken and watermelon often?

Dinah—Yassum, he's a good provider all right. But Ah! always skinned her gwine to get ketchup at it some time.

She—How do you like my hat? He (absently)—Fine! but do you realize that you have a run in your hose?

How to gratify a seakins taste on a muskrat salary is still an unsolved problem.

United States Senate

Exposes' H. V. Kaltenborn

A trip by H. V. Kaltenborn to California a few weeks ago virtually resulted in an expose by the United States Senate of that noted radio commentator, Mr. Kaltenborn himself revealed in his lecture visit to this city last night.

One of the questions asked following his talk last evening at the high school auditorium was "How did you like working in 'Mr. Smith Goes to Washington'?"

Frank Capra, who directed the picture, the speaker said, impressed him, but in a sense that famous maker of movies was also responsible for the radio political analyst "losing his shirt."

Capra was about to shoot the scene in which Mr. Kaltenborn appeared when he took his customary look into the camera and then discovered that Mr. Kaltenborn's shirt cast a glare of light. It was a silk shirt with the familiar highlights and would have interfered with Capra's idea of perfect photography.

Directions were shouted out by Capra and within a minute and a half Mr. Kaltenborn was given a shirt of exact fit and instructed to put it on.

"And there I was," explained the radio commentator, before this great and august assembly, the United States Senate removing my coat and vest and changing my shirt." The scene in which he appeared was shot, Mr. Kaltenborn explained, near that impressive reproduction of the United States Senate chamber, which Mr. Capra had made for his picture.

Kiwanis Holds Past Presidents Day; 14 'Ex's' Attend Meeting

There was a large attendance at the weekly luncheon-meeting of Kiwanis at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday, the special drawing card being the celebration of past presidents' day. It proved to be an unusually enjoyable occasion, with all but two of the living past presidents present and participating in the program, Paul A. Zucca, president last year, presiding.

The two deceased past presidents are Dr. A. C. Gates (1923) and Rev. Oscar E. Brandt (1932) and a period of silence was observed in tribute to their memory when their names were reached in the roll-call. Past President Roger H. Loughran and William B. Byrne were unable to be present.

Attending and responding as their names were called were: Arthur J. Burns, 1921. Roy M. Sutcliffe, 1922. William A. Van Valkenburgh, 1924.

Charles Lasher, 1925. Chester A. Balitz, 1926. Dr. Julius Gifford, 1927. C. S. Rowland, 1928. L. F. Doty, 1929. R. F. Childsey, 1930. R. W. Codriss, 1931. H. R. St. John, 1933. Harry Halverson, 1934. Morris Samter, 1935. Paul A. Zucca, 1938.

Former Judge Joseph A. Fowler, who was among the guests of honor at the speakers' table, was presented as executive chairman of the committee forming the organization. He told of the early organization work and the first meetings of the organization, of which he was chairman until the receipt of the charter and the formal election of officers in April, 1921, with Arthur J. Burns as the first president. He added that during all the years that had elapsed he did not recall a single president who had proved to be a disappointment to membership of the club and, further, he did not believe there was one of them who would not agree that the office had done more for him than he had done for the club.

Milk for Children
Charles Lasher, fifth president, who came over from Poughkeepsie for the meeting, recalled that it was during his term that Kiwanis took up work for undernourished children, supplying milk and also in some cases shoes and clothing. It was during his time that the club sponsored the Boy Scout camp on the Wallkill, buying the land and raising the larger portion of the purchase price.

A feature of the program was the tribute in verse to each of the guests of honor. They were read by W. C. Kingman and according to his story had an origin that was peculiar, to say the least. He averred that he dreamed that he was back in school and was told to pick out 18 men who had done things for their community and write something about them. When he awoke in the morning he found the 18 slips of paper on his pillow, each one containing a short verse about one of the Kiwanis past presidents.

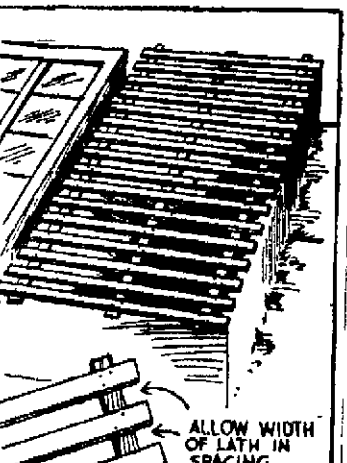

Another unusual feature of the program was the feat of memory performed by Eugene A. Freer. Gene lighted a cigarette and then made it disappear into thin air. It was considered as bordering on the wonderful.

At the conclusion of the program, shortened because of the lateness of the hour, President E. M. Huben voiced the appreciation of Kiwanis of 1939 of the energy and enthusiasm of the men who had led the club in the past and who had brought it to a position of honor and standing in the community.

Guests Thursday were Eugene Morehouse of Hurley, Belmont P. Beverly of Newburgh, Roy Davis, Troy Kiwanian; Charles A. Lasher of Poughkeepsie, Arthur J. Burns and Roy M. Sutcliffe of Kingston.

It was announced that next week Kiwanis would meet on Wednesday with the Rotary Club.

Sow Perennial Flowers This Fall

A LATH SCREEN ALLOWS ENOUGH LIGHT TO PENETRATE THE SEED BED BUT BREAKS ITS FULL FORCE.

Seeds of many perennial flowers may be sown this fall rather than next spring. They will germinate earlier and will have a corresponding longer growing season next year. Then, too, the weathering of winter speeds up germination in many of them which, sown in the spring, are slow to appear. In fact, some of them will live over a year in the ground before appearing if they do not have the weathering. The irises, the gas plant, Dictamnus fraxinella, and delphiniums troilus and phloxes sometimes show these traits.

Sow delphiniums, columbines, gaillardias, foxgloves, Canterbury bells, peach-leaved bellflowers, co-ropsis—in fact any of the hardy perennials—late this fall and save that much spring work and get better results in the way of germination. Primrose seed gives much higher percentage of germination if sown in the fall than in the following spring.

Sow the seed in rows where it may grow along until the plants are sufficient size to transplant. The one danger of fall planting is the wash from heavy rains, a danger always in planting seeds in the open.

To obviate this danger, mulch the beds with some material that will not mat down solidly, such as oak leaves, pine needles, or fresh straw. In the spring the beds may be protected by frames covered with window screen or lath to break the force of driving rains and prevent the tiny seedlings from being washed out of existence. This scheme is used quite widely by professional gardeners to protect their seedlings, a large proportion of which might be lost if fully exposed to spring downpours.

Those who grow irises from seed, a popular garden pastime of recent years, should plant the seed an inch deep this fall. Siberian, Japanese, and the tall bearded sorts. This will give good germination next spring, which will not result with as much certainty from spring-sown seed, some of which will take a year before appearing.

The perennial seed bed should be made early and enriched with a balanced plant food applied at the rate of 4 pounds to a 100 square feet, to encourage a strong early growth of the plants so that they may better withstand the hot dry weather of midsummer, which takes such toll of seedlings each year.

'Scarface' Al Faces Lingering Brain Illness; Agents on Guard

Baltimore, Nov. 17 (AP)—Broken, flabby and ailing, "Scarface" Al Capone stared vacantly at the ceiling of a $30-per-day hospital suite today, free of prison cells in which he lived for seven years but sentenced now to a lingering brain disease.

Outside the one-time Chicago gang czar's room sat a male orderly and a nurse. In or near the hospital were three federal agents, assigned by Attorney General Murphy to keep the fallen vice emperor under surveillance because, Murphy said, "certain things have come to our attention."

Whether the agents were to guard Capone from himself or from possible gangland reprisal was not made clear. No uniformed police were assigned to Union Memorial Hospital and officials asserted none would be unless requested by the institution. The gangster chief came here secretly yesterday from the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., and entered the General Hospital as the patient of Dr. Joseph E. Moore, former director of the syphilis division of the Johns Hopkins Medical Clinic.

Suffers from Paresis

He was suffering from paresis—softening of the brain—but it was learned that, while his condition was serious, he was in no immediate danger.

Dr. Moore and hospital officials declined to discuss the case. Attorney General Murphy said Capone would be under treatment possibly three weeks and planned to go to Miami after his discharge. Murphy added that relatives had assured him the racketeer, who served his time for income tax evasion, would "go straight."

Hospital attendants who saw Capone said he looked "pale and weak." His wife, mother and brother, Ralph, were with him when he arrived and arrangements were made for the latter to occupy the second bedroom of the expensive suite.

No one about the hospital seemed certain who sent him the huge bunch of chrysanthemums, but they made a gleaming backdrop while Capone idly played cards with his brother until ordered to sleep last night.

Chicago Works on Case

Meanwhile, Chicago police intensified their investigation of a possible link between Capone's old organization and last week's shotgun slaying of Edward J. O'Hare, president of the Sportsman's Park race track.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief of the state's attorney's investigators, asserted "there is no longer any doubt about it being a Capone job." He said he had learned Capone gangsters were involved in a dispute at Sportsman's Park about 10 days before O'Hare's assassination.

Capone left Sunday night from Terminal Island prison, San Diego, Calif., where he had been transferred from Alcatraz because of his physical condition. With his guards, he left the train at Harrisburg, Pa., and motored to Lewisburg where he was formally released.

Given the customary suit of clothes—but not the customary $10—he left immediately with relatives and motored direct to Baltimore.

AL CAPONE GUARDED ON WAY TO FREEDOM

Guarded by a federal agent, Scarface Al Capone (left) is shown as he left a train at Harrisburg, Pa., en route to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where the prohibition era gang czar was formally released after seven years in prison on an income tax evasion sentence. Shown are the federal officer (hand on Capone's shoulder) and a reporter. Later in the day Capone took a two-room $30-a-day suite in a Baltimore hospital, where he will be treated for paresis. The picture was taken by a Chicago Times photographer.

AL CAPONE FREED, ENTERS HOSPITAL

Freed at the expiration of his prison term from the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., (top) to which he had just been transferred from Terminal Island prison in California, Al Capone, Chicago's one time gang overlord, dropped from sight. It was assumed his destination was his estate (bottom) near Miami Beach, Fla., but for the time being he will undergo observation and treatment at Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore, which he entered several hours later. Capone was removed to Terminal Island from Alcatraz because of ill health.

Farm Conditions Better Than Year Ago, Group Learns

the land is plowed, fertilized, and reseeded, and the buildings are put into serviceable condition so they will be satisfactory both as a home and a business.

Himself a farmer, and a native of Delaware county, Mr. Thomson has been president of the Federal Land Bank for more than 20 years. In the first decade, 17,274 loans were made through the bank by National farm loan associations in New York, New Jersey and New England, but at the close of October of this year the number of loans had increased to over 41,000. In that time, however, 12,000 had been repaid in full.

"Our experience during this period has given us great confidence not only in farm people but also in the agriculture of this region," he declared. "We firmly believe that a Federal Land Bank mortgage is the safest debt a farmer can have, because it requires only small payments in any one year, and cannot come due in full as long as those payments are made promptly." Mr. Thomson said: "A farmer has a long time to pay his mortgage if he needs it, but he is at liberty to pay more than the required amounts and thus to shorten the term of his loan. Most Land Bank loans are written on a 33-year repayment plan thus requiring $15 per thousand on principal each six months. Loans being made at the present time bear 4%, and the rate can not be increased during the entire life of the mortgage."

Taxes are a major problem with farmers everywhere in the northeast, Mr. Thomson said. He urged his audience to become interested in the means by which taxes are raised so that each property owner can take an intelligent part in seeing that farm real estate doesn't bear more than its fair share of the tax load.

To make it easier for farmers to meet their required payments on commissioner mortgages, Mr. Thomson said a plan has just been worked out to change some 15,000 ten-year mortgages to a twenty-year repayment plan, thus cutting in half the annual principal installments. Blanks were mailed last week to farmers in this section so that they may apply for the revision if they wish to take advantage of it.

New directors of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association elected by the stockholders present at the meeting at Kysirike were S. M. Aldrich of Lake Katrine and Fred DuBois of New Paltz.

Driver of Cycle Injured in Crash

Vincent Maggiore, 22, of RFD 2, Kingston, suffered injuries of the mouth and left leg when the motorcycle he was riding on Broadway was in collision with an automobile driven by Richard J. Krum, 20, of 236 South Wall Street, about 9 o'clock Thursday evening.

Mr. Maggiore was riding on Broadway while the Krum car was pulling out of a gas station near the municipal auditorium at the time the two machines collided.

Fourteen inches is commonly agreed upon as the average distance at which books should be held from the eyes in reading.

Party Big-Wigs Ask of Dewey, How Is Stand on U. S. Issues; Feminists Making Their Plans

Pittsburgh First In Movie Theaters

City Acted Pioneer Role In Picture Industry.

PITTSBURGH.—With the current nationwide celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the moving picture, attention has been focused on the pioneering role played by Pittsburgh, which produced the first all-motion picture theater.

In 1905, 18 years after Thomas A. Edison first saw pictures in motion through the peephole of a kineoscope, the late Senator John P. Harris of Pittsburgh opened the box office of the first all-motion picture show in the world, a remodeled storeroom in the heart of the city.

Harris, who with Harry Davis, pioneer showman, had shown his first moving picture eight years earlier, called his house the "Nickelodeon"—a synthetic word coined from the slang word for the coin, "nickel," and the Greek "odeon" for theater. Reconditioning of the storeroom had consisted largely of the installation of a white sheet, some opera chairs, stucco, burlap and paint, and glaring incandescent lights.

Opened June 19, 1905, the Nickelodeon had a seating capacity of 96, yet played to a daily audience of 7,000.

From 8 a. m. until midnight, it ground out flickering films, each program—one or two reels—running from 12 to 20 minutes. There were no reserved seats and a nickel was the price of admission.

Not only was the Harris-Davis Nickelodeon the first motion picture theater but it also featured the first double bill. The opening program showed "Poor but Honest," and the "Baffled Burglar."

So successful was the Pittsburgh theater, that Harris and Davis opened other Nickelodeons in Philadelphia, Rochester and Buffalo, N. Y., and Cleveland. Additional "Nicks" also mushroomed up through Pittsburgh.

Harris was a pioneer promoter of vaudeville in the Pittsburgh district. His Nickelodeon was the forerunner of a large chain of theaters operated in the district today by his son, John H. Harris.

Two Men Arrange World Cruise in Tiny Schooner

JACKSON, WYO.—Nearly all world ports will be visited by two Jackson men who plan to make a leisurely cruise around the universe in a rented three-masted schooner this fall.

With a crew of 12 to handle the 63-foot vessel, the two, Harold T. Napes, a rancher, and Waley Watson, former ranger in the Grand Teton national park, expect to sail from San Francisco and roam the seas for a year and a half.

It will be the first such trip for Watson but just another jaunt for his partner Napes. The ex-ranger has headed several similar expeditions in the past.

Under tentative plans, the cruise will take the adventure-seeking pair to several Pacific island groups, Singapore, down the coast of Asia Minor to the Red Sea, along the African coastline to the Cape of Good Hope and up the west coast of Africa past the Mediterranean countries to Portugal, Spain, France and the British Isles.

En route home, Napes and Watson expect to touch Greenland and eastern Canadian ports, sail down the Atlantic and Gulf coastlines of the United States, through the Panama canal and thence back to San Francisco.

Canada Air Effort Will Cost Vast Expenditure

OTTAWA.—The convention of Canada into a center for advanced air training for the whole British empire, including Great Britain herself, will involve an expenditure here during the first year of $700,000,000 it was learned from official sources. This compares with the $6,000,000 set aside for the limited training scheme which it replaces.

It will also involve for Canada the creation of a new air establishment of 1,375 officers and 13,000 men as compared with the 2,445 officers and men which the royal Canadian air force had at the beginning of the war. The government is understood already to have authorized the new establishment.

The effects on the industry of the stimulation of aircraft manufacture which it will involve will be enormous. It will greatly increase Canada's importance as a belligerent.

He's Lost for Decade Only 25 Miles Away

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—For 10 years the family of John A. Distler searched for him—and yet he was only 25 miles away.

His family failed to hear from him since Distler left home in 1929 to find a job. Recently an aunt died, leaving him $21,000, and the long-lost man's whereabouts was discovered when his wife came to Cincinnati to claim the money. She revealed that Distler, now a paralytic, had been living in Lawrenceburg, Ind., during the 10 years the family tried to find him.

Fifty per cent of American home exteriors are painted white, less than one per cent red or blue.

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey's decision to break his long silence on national issues next month pumped new interest today into the 1940 Republican presidential race.

Sharing attention—on the Democratic side—was last night's Baltimore speech by Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.), in which he praised President Roosevelt's record, called for a united party to assure victory next year, and explained that his own conflicts with the Chief Executive had been over methods rather than fundamental beliefs.

Some party leaders who have been watching the Republican contest from the sidelines said that Dewey's chances of winning a place large on the stand he takes on major questions of the day.

Conceding that he has won a name for himself as New York's district attorney, they have been asking: "Where does he stand on national issues?"

The announcement that Dewey would make the first of a series of mid-west speeches at Minneapolis about December 6 coincided with the start of cross-country speaking tours by two others mentioned for the Republican nomination.

Senators Taft of Ohio and Bridges of New Hampshire are on the stump, simultaneously with the launching of a boom for Governor Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania. His name was put forward yesterday by two big Pennsylvania Republicans—former Senator Joseph R. Grundy and National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett.

Women Make Plans Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—A dozen feminine leaders from scattered states laid plans today for a national conference of Republican women in 1940, which they want to make a definite force in the party's election campaign.

If the conventions meet in June or July and are followed by the usual summer letdown, Miss Marion E. Martin predicted, "our fall conference, with the presidential nominee as the speaker, will be a springboard for starting the intensive work of the campaign."

Miss Martin is assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee. She is meeting with the advisory committee of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

The federation, Miss Martin said, gives the party a reserve of 200,000 women who have a background of Republican information and who know the answers to such questions as "what has the Republican party ever done?" Club members, she explained, have studied current issues and Republican doctrine by means of forums, dramatizations, speeches and study groups. Their job is not to do party work by ringing doorbells, as precinct workers do, but to spread Republican doctrine through social contacts.

The federation leaders are trying to scotch any notion that Republican women are rich and always wear orchids.

Latest Stainless Steel Is Called 'Everlasting'

Steel that will last forever in all kinds of weather, a major goal of science, became a possibility with the announcement by the Chemical Foundation of discovery of five new processes for making stainless steel impervious to all known natural corrosion.

These discoveries change not only the surface but the depths of the metal. One of them renders the steel as lustrous as precious metals so that it can be made into jewelry.

All discoveries were made at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by four men, Herbert Henry Uhlig, John C. Wulff, Albert L. Kaye and Robert S. Williams. They assigned their patents to the Chemical Foundation, a non-profit corporation organized by the late Francis Patrick Garvan to take over German World War patents.

Stainless steel has been vulnerable to two kinds of corrosion. In one, pit corrosion, rust forms in scattered spots and digs little isolated wells. It can honeycomb and ruin the metal. It occurs mainly in contact with salt water. The other, intercrystalline corrosion, has not caused much trouble.

The technology metallurgists discovered the source of the pits in microscopic points, cracks and other imperfections on the surface of apparently smooth steel. These rough places were particularly apparent after stainless was cold-worked.

They discovered two heating methods, a chemical bath and a rolling treatment which would smooth this surface to almost mathematical perfection and stop pit corrosion. They also discovered that alloying stainless steel with molybdenum or silver would stop corrosion. The "silver steel" discovery was announced several months ago.

Most of these methods can be used on steel at any stage of its fabrication, and in some cases on steel already in use.

They discovered a combination of two methods, heating and a chemical bath, as the best treatment for both pit and intercrystalline corrosion. The chemical bath dissolves .0004 of an inch of steel surface and closes up all imperfections. The heating rearranges the steel crystals so that rust resistance is far more than skin deep.

When You Think of Wearing

Boston, Nov. 17 (AP)—Asserting that high school students "know more about cheers than chores," Roger Babson, investment specialist, charged today that the school system in the United States was "primarily responsible for at least 7,000,000 of the 10,000,000 unemployed" in the nation.

Business men, he declared in a prepared address before the New England Association of School Superintendents, "are forced to cease to employ the young men and women emerging from a broken-down organization which has been despoiled by political raiders."

Babson listed 10 factors which he said contributed to unemployment, but added that "the big reason is that young people are being graduated from our schools today as goods are being sold by department stores. Politically minded school committees are giving these children—not what untrained children need—but what misled parents think they want them to have."

"Preceding this transformation era (1900-1915), the old-fashioned economics were unconsciously taught," Babson continued. "The 'root, hog, or die' attitude was unconsciously put forth. Integrity, industry, thrift, directed by intelligence and courage, was the philosophy of the old-fashioned school. Now, in these New Deal days, the situation is largely changed."

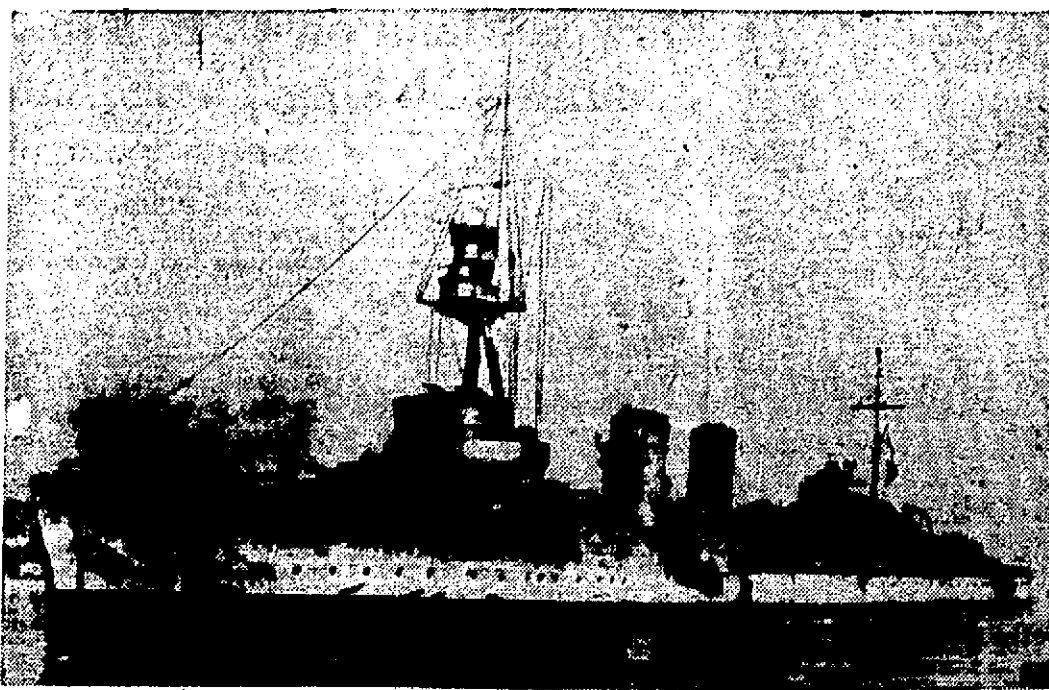

"Hence, the graduates of our schools are going out with what many of us believe to be false philosophy or no philosophy; certainly with a false economy." "Business men, who formerly have been 'customers' of the school by hiring its graduates, no longer can afford to accept worthless goods."

Will Meet Tuesday

The November meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held on Tuesday evening in Highland when the firemen will be the guests of the fire department of that village.

Mary Alice Beistle of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, already has a good start on the career for which she is preparing at Skidmore College. A freshman in fine and applied art, specializing in illustrations for children's books, Miss Beistle has to her credit three books in color and silhouettes.

BRITISH WARSHIP VISITS U. S. PORT

The first warship of a belligerent to enter a U. S. port since outbreak of the war, was the British light cruiser Caradoc, shown here as it anchored at San Diego, Calif. The gray paint of the Caradoc was streaked with rust as she slipped into port under cover of an early morning fog. It was expected that she would leave within the required 24 hours.

Western Senators Are Divided Upon Court Appointee

Justices since Mr. Roosevelt took office emphasized anew the probability that his appointees will dominate the court for years to come. The four he has appointed so far have been comparatively young.

Many members of Congress from the west have contended that in such probable long-time makeup of the court their section should be represented. Justice Butler was the only justice whose home was west of the Mississippi, although Justice William O. Douglas lived in the Pacific northwest in his youth.

Senator Borah said he would like to see a western man on the court, but he added:

"But candidly, it's the man and not the geography that counts on the bench."

Borah said he remained unconvinced that any special talents were needed to ravel the complex litigation that often stems from disputes over western land titles, irrigation rights or mining interests.

"The best mining decisions of the Supreme Court were written by men who wouldn't have known a mine if they saw one," he declared.

On the other hand, Senators Adams (D-Colo.) and King (D-Utah) said they thought a man familiar with the problems of the west should be nominated.

King announced that he again would urge the appointment of Judge Harold M. Stephens of Utah, a member of the United States Court of Appeals here. Stephens is a Catholic.

Another westerner to receive unofficial mention was Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.), an active Roosevelt supporter.

Rhodesian Superstitions

The greatest Rhodesian superstition, which British authorities have had scant success in suppressing, is the killing of babies. If twins are born they must be killed. If a baby cuts an upper tooth first, it must be killed. If either type were allowed to live, the natives believe, a great calamity would befall the tribe. The natives dodge strict British laws by killing the ill-starred babies secretly, then reporting that they died of illness.

Archeologists Uncover Rich Finds in Arizona

Bones of an Indian medicine man, entombed in the most elaborate vault and accompanied by the richest burial offerings ever found in the Southwest, have been discovered in the hills near Flagstaff, Ariz., by archeologists of the Museum of Northern Arizona.

Dr. Harold Colton, director of the museum, said the discovery was made during test excavations of the famous ridge runs, a 30-room pueblo believed to have been built and inhabited as early as the Twelfth or Thirteenth century.

The vault itself was found under the heavy flooring in a remote corner of the crumbling pueblo. Beside the bones, Dr. Colton said, were more than 100 pieces of jewelry, saluaries, pottery and other artifacts, indicating by their great number that the Indian was of great importance in the pre-historic community, probably a medicine man of "great magic."

It was believed the tribesmen, fearing the power of the deceased witch doctor, showered great numbers of gifts upon him to "court" his goodwill in the world to which he had departed and into which they, too, were destined to go.

The gifts represented some of the finest Indian handwork ever found in southwestern United States. The most intricate piece of work was a cylindrical basket about five inches high and slightly less than two inches in diameter. Its entire surface was inlaid with more than 1,500 pieces of turquoise and decorated further with polished porcupine teeth.

The basket was damaged slightly, but archeologists were confident it could be restored.

The ruins in which the vault was found are in the same general area where excavators a few years ago discovered the first ball courts ever erected in what is now the United States.

Year's Feature Stories Will Go On Air Dec. 31

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—The 10 biggest news stories of 1939, as selected by the editors of the Associated Press, will be recreated in dramatic form over the National Broadcasting Company's blue network on Sunday, December 31.

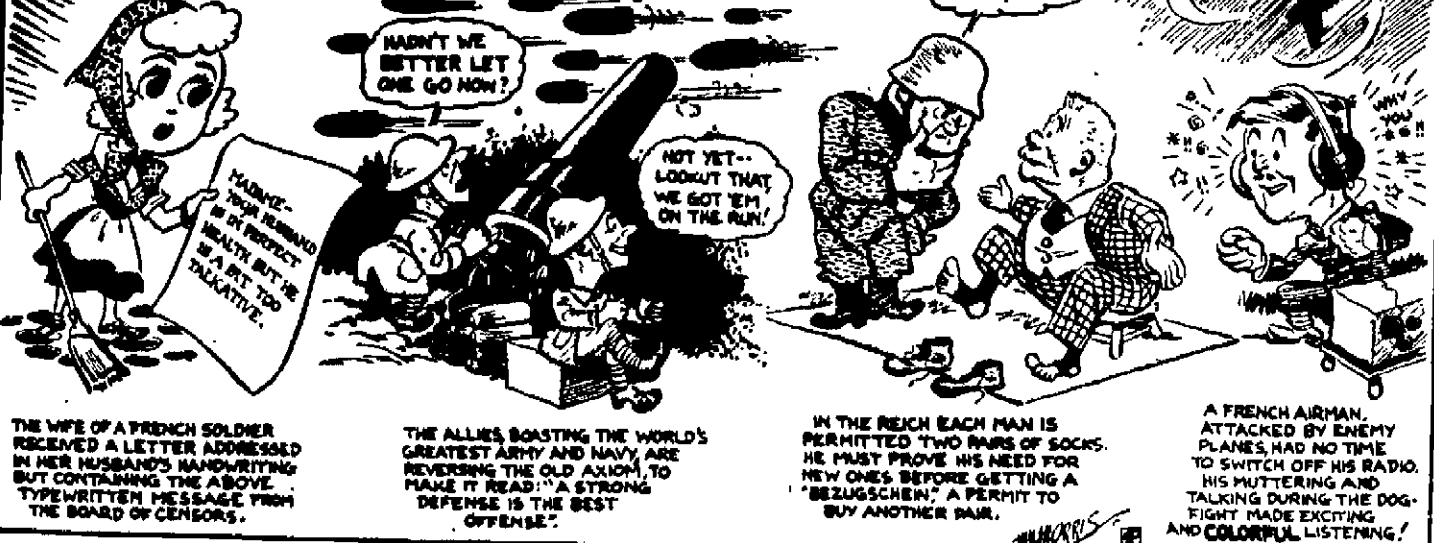

The full-hour program, starting at 2 p. m., entitled "Headlines of 1939," will mark another milestone in the annual dramatization of the world's most stirring news events, which began in 1934.

Selection of the 10 stories editors, will be announced soon.

A cast of veteran dramatic actors will lend realism to the program, the smallest detail of which is checked and re-checked with the Associated Press before it is put on the air.

Last year's "big 10" included the pact of Munich and the general tension in Europe, the New England hurricane, and the "Wrong Way" Corrigan and Howard Hughes flights.

This Cockeyed War

Farmers in many parts of the country are taking out livestock insurance to protect themselves against losses from the death of livestock and to insure replacements. Non-profit, cooperative "replacement associations" have been formed.

Kerhonkson Union School Activities

Kerhonkson, Nov. 16.—The chief means of giving information to parents concerning the progress of their children in school is by the issuance of a periodic report card. These will be distributed Monday, November 20, according to the Union Free School principal, Clifford L. Rall, who suggests that parents scrutinize very carefully the social attitudes, work habits and personality ratings as well as the scholastic achievement. In every instance, where the grades do not indicate satisfactory progress, the parent should see the principal, he suggests.

Plans are speedily being completed to move the first and second grades into the fire hall. The new program will probably be in operation directly after Thanksgiving. Since the room chosen is not as large as the one being used in the school, it will be necessary to continue with the split session, that is, the first grade attending in the morning and the second grade in the afternoon.

Book week is being celebrated in the school library by a display of over 100 new volumes. These will be put into circulation Monday. Some of the titles include "The Citadel," "A Peculiar Treasure," "American Doctor's Odyssey," "Careers for Women," and "Leader by Destiny." The theme of the library display is "Books Around the World."

Basketball practice will begin November 15, according to Coach John C. Braun. For the past two years the Kerhonkson High School team has won the championship of the Niso League. Although the team can count on only one experienced varsity player, the outlook seems bright for a successful season. Probably one of the best features of the inter-school athletic program is the growth of good sportsmanship which has become evident in the last few years.

Preliminary certificates have been awarded to the following students: Phyllis Blythe, Earl Booth, William Brush, Philip Davis, Virginia Gray, Dorothy Glaser, Calvin Malinka, Raymond Newman, Albert Osterhoudt, Daniel Panaccione, Arline Petry, Grace Quick, David Rubin, Ben Sondak, John Stone, Alex Tessler, Winston VanKleeck, Thelma Waruch, Elaine Windrum, Irving Yachnes, Virginia Zurlo, Millard Beucier, William Tilton, David Turner, Robert Ogden, Samuel Maltz, and Mary Mahoney.

Custodian Donald Schonger is supervising the work of three N. Y. A. students. These boys are able to earn part of their school expenses by doing light janitorial tasks in and about the school building. Mr. Schonger has declared that he is very well satisfied with the work accomplished by these pupils.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

School No. 8

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 8 met Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. William J. McVey gave an interesting talk on "Learning to Make." She also brought with her articles of handcraft in metal, wood, reed, leather and weaving. Mrs. McVey stated that it is surprising how little is done with the hands today. This, she said, is due to the convenience in the home. "We all have a bit of genius in us if we would develop it," said Mrs. McVey.

The project for the year of the P.-T. A. is a school library. At the meeting Tuesday plans were made to raise money to help furnish a room set aside for the library. Banners were won by Miss Gorbner and Miss Wheeler's rooms. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ernest Lindroth and Mrs. Eugene Cornwell.

"Education," said Dr. Ingraham, "is facts which will stand up under critical analysis; propaganda is bold statements and half truths which will not stand up under investigation."

Dr. Ingraham listed a number of ways used to get propaganda to stay in one's mind and make an impression. The most used and most effective is found to be the

The Cost of a Church Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother and I can't agree on the size of my wedding. We aren't very well off and I can't see why I shouldn't have a simple church wedding. Our invitation list is very long but our church is very large. The reception afterward will be just for the immediate families and a few of our closest friends. Mother feels that even though having 50 people at the church would cost the same as having 500—except for the cost of the invitations—we might be criticized for what some people would think was a conspicuous display. What do you think, Mrs. Post?

Answer: I think it will be quite all right to ask every one you would like to, to the church. The difference between a display and a simple wedding is one of decoration, and of an elaborate bride dress and many attendants. That is, if the whole church is expensively decorated by a florist—and if you have six or eight bridesmaids, this might under the circumstances be considered an unsuitable display. But if the flowers are from your garden or from those of your neighbors, or

School No. 6

The third regular meeting of the P.-T. A. of School No. 6 was held at the school on Tuesday evening, November 14. Mrs. John Drewes presiding. Approximately 100 members were present, including Father's Night. The President's Thanksgiving Proclamation was read by Mrs. Swarthout. The final report of the membership drive was given with 235 members enrolled. Mr. Miner thanked the parents for whole hearted and enthusiastic support of the projects thus far. Since this year is being devoted to a special endeavor to carry out all welfare work in the district, such cooperation is necessary. The Stanley Hummel concert on December 6 was announced. The proceeds of this concert are to be used for welfare work.

Divorce Is Granted

Dora M. Schaffer of Kingston has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband, George Schaffer. Herman Katz appeared for the plaintiff at the trial of the action before Justice Harry E. Schirck. The plaintiff is granted $5 a week alimony and the court directs that she may resume her maiden name, Dora M. Scott. The couple was married at Highland on February 2, 1924. The acts upon which the action was based allegedly took place at town of Saugerties on August 28, last.

at least limited to white flowers on the altar and perhaps a few greens flanking the chancel, and if you have only a maid of honor or possibly two bridesmaids, the wedding could not possibly be criticized.

When the Bridesmaids are Short and Tall

Dear Mrs. Post: My two dearest friends are going to be my bridesmaids. But they look so funny together because of the difference in their height that I'm afraid the effect they will give will be ludicrous rather than serious as it should be. The only other attendants are two little flower girls who are twins and the same size. Since you have often written that it doesn't make a pleasing picture to have the bridesmaids walk in single file, I don't know just what to do. What would you suggest?

Answer: The best solution to your problem—if you could do so—would be to ask a third friend, who is the same height as one of the other two, to be bridesmaid. Then the odd one would necessarily walk alone followed by the two little flower girls. If you can't do this, I think it would perhaps be better to have each walk alone than to risk creating the picture you describe.

The Answer to a Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: I have received an invitation to a wedding reception. Should I address my acceptance to the bride's mother or to the mother and father?

Answer: The envelope is addressed to the names engraved at the top of the invitation: Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Parents. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "A Housewarming." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Physician Is Injured

to the left of the highway. Sergeant E. J. Hulse and Trooper James Benson investigated. Dr. Bacon was riding alone.

to see the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. There he obtained a job as helper at $1 a day in the Chicago service shop of General Electric. He worked his way up from there to a directorship and vice-presidency in Western Electric, and after a period of war service Coffin brought Swope back to General Electric. He became president of General Electric in 1922.

Wilson, who had only a primary school education before his first job with General Electric, is considered a "self made man" in industry, who rose to the top by demonstrated ability. He has spent most of the time in New York, except for a spell in Bridgeport, Conn., with the same company. He is married and lives in Scarsdale, N. Y.

Reed holds degrees in electrical engineering from the University of Wisconsin, 1921, and a doctorate of law, Fordham University, 1924. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering society. He was studying law at night in Fordham when he became vice president and patent counsel for the Van Heusen Products Co., of New York. Previously he acted as patent attorney for J. M. Van Heusen, of Boston. He is married, has two children, and lives at Larchmont, N. Y.

In a joint statement issued by Young and Swope they said: "When we took office, we indicated our views that it would contribute to the morale and effectiveness of the organization if as a general rule men in important administrative positions would consider retirement when they reached the age of 65. . . . Having adopted that policy of retirement during our administration, we now apply it to ourselves."

Strevell Proposes Six-Year School

Supervising Principal Wallace H. Strevell in his report to the Ellenville board of education recommended that the board apply to the state education department for a charter permitting a "six-year high school" in Ellenville.

The report further stated that such action would give added prestige to the junior high school department and could be introduced without additions to the school's organization and without extra expense.

The board at its meeting Tuesday took no action on the recommendation.

HERB BARKER

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Taking the weekly trip on the football merry-go-round and grabbing hopelessly for the brass ring: Missouri-Oklahoma: This should settle the Big Six title beyond dispute and spread a little light on the relative merits of big Paul Christman and little Beryl Clark. Missouri—and Christman—have come a long way since the Ohio State defeat, but this corner takes Oklahoma.

Dartmouth-Cornell: A touch of ivy here. Dartmouth probably will rebound from the Princeton defeat, but unbeaten Cornell rates the call.

Tennessee-Vanderbilt: After last week, who knows where the lightning will strike next? Still, with or without Cafego, Tennessee.

Rice-Texas A. and M.: No reason to change horses in mid-stream. The Aggies.

U. C. L. A.-Santa Clara: U. C. L. A. will have to "give" if it is to get past the Broncos. An extremely faint-hearted ballot for U. C. L. A. and Kony Washington.

Columbia-Tulane: Lou Little's Columbia team has accomplished miracles on occasion, but the Lions appear to be over-matched badly in this one. Tulane.

Penn-Michigan: Much closer than anyone expected it would be a few weeks back. The Wolverines have missed Evashkevich, and it's only by a toss of the coin that Michigan gets the nod.

Duke-North Carolina: Two great Southern Conference powers collide. Nobody has stopped North Carolina's tricky attack yet, and the Tarheels really put it on when they began to roll. We'll take North Carolina and suffer the consequences.

Iowa-Minnesota: It's dangerous to pick against the Hawkeyes with Nile Kinnick around, so charge this selection to Minnesota to sheer stubbornness.

Ohio State-Illinois: Illinois was first to demonstrate Michigan's vulnerability, but this is one man's opinion that Zupke can't do it again—at least not right now. Ohio State.

Wisconsin-Purdue: The Badgers can't get going. Purdue.

Pitt-Nebraska: A brawl, or two ought to decide this. Strictly out of a hat. Pitt.

Yale-Princeton: Princeton should take the "Big Three" title as well as Yale.

Fordham-St. Mary's: Fordham, with full knowledge that the Gaels generally are at their best in this particular rivalry.

Holy Cross-Cornell: Holy Cross, after a bruising struggle.

New York University-Georgetown: Injuries threaten to cripple the Violets, inducing a whispered vote for Georgetown.

Army-Penn State: Surely the Cadets will click at least once this season. Army.

Syracuse-Colgate: Colgate is on the upgrade and gets this vote.

Temple-Villanova: Interlocking combat with Villanova as the choice.

Michigan State-Indiana: Very close. Indiana.

Detroit-Manhattan: Ditto, Manhattan.

Kansas-George Washington: And still another. Kansas.

Alabama-Georgia Tech: Alabama is not scoring much. Georgia Tech.

Students Demand Co-Ed Band Leader

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 17 (AP)—Unless something goes awry at the last minute, it looks now as if ancient tradition would be blasted in Harvard Stadium tomorrow by a pretty girl drum major doing her stuff in front of the University of New Hampshire band.

Harvard tradition—and authority—long has frowned on baton-twirling girls between the halves of Crimson football games but the New Hampshire band parade at the New Hampshire-Harvard game without Beatrice Fishman, co-ed leader, was met with threats of a sit-down strike.

Officials of the Durham Institution explained that the Harvard band was "prejudiced" against drum majorettes but many band members declared they would not leave their seats at half time unless Miss Fishman, a Dowd N. H. girl, was out in front. School authorities could do nothing but acquiesce.

BABE RUTH BAGS HIS THANKSGIVING BIRD

A-hunting with Maryland's governor, Herbert R. O'Connor, (left) near Hagerstown, George Herman Ruth, (right) former king of big league homerun hitters, got two turkeys. In addition he brought down eight ducks and eight pheasants. The governor's score was one turkey, seven ducks and eight pheasants.

Billy Conn the Favorite Over Lesnevich Tonight

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Handsome as a handsome does—and in this case "handsome" (in the person of Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh Adonis) should do very well for himself.

For Billy will be an overwhelming favorite as he lays his lightweight title on the line tonight against Gus Lesnevich, rugged Cliffside (N. J.) scrapper, in a Madison Square Garden show.

The fight will be Conn's second defense of the title he won from Melio Bettina last July 13 in the same ring. In a return engagement with Melio at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh September 25, Billy retained the title with a decision after 15 grueling rounds.

Promoter Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Sporting Club estimates a sell-out crowd will watch the first Garden fight since old Tony Canzoneri hit the canvas—and the end of his comeback trail—two weeks ago against young Al Davis. The battle tonight should draw a gate of about $50,000, Jacobs hopes.

Those who "like" Lesnevich are playing what the boys call a hunch. They apparently feel Conn will meet the fate of Henry Armstrong and Fred Apostoli. Both were relieved of their crowns by hard-hitting underdogs.

However, the Conn camp scoffs at such superstition and points to the popular Pittsburgher's left jab—by far his most effective weapon—and the fact that many rate him the best boxer in the business today.

Lesnevich, featuring speed, stamina and a vicious punch, is the New York State Athletic Commission's No. 1 challenger and the guy Conn must bat down before he is recognized as the 175-pound champion by the National Boxing Commission.

The N. B. A. title has been vacant since John Henry Lewis moved off the throne months ago because of impaired vision. "Joe N. B. A. has indicated it will be perfectly willing to declare the victor undisputed king of the light heavies.

Joneses Make Three New Records . . . Eagles Play Tonight

The Yellow Jackets hope the fans won't forget their game with the All Americans of Poughkeepsie Sunday at the municipal stadium. Starting time 2:30.

Tickets purchased for the Port Jervis game may be used. That match was rained out. Ad Jones's spirits are higher than the cap on a frozen milk bottle. Reason: His bowling team smashed three records in the Central Major League last night. Rolling against the Hynes keggers the Millers posted a 1062 high single for a new mark, ran up a 3110 total and Al Kieffer chalked up a 689 series to surpass Harold Broskie's high triple of 680. That 3110 is a new mark for Kingston bowling, topping the Fischer Body's 3108 rolled in an exhibition. The complete figures on this and other alley match-ups may be found in the bowling columns. Sorry about Emerick Ladies scores. They came in a day late. All scores must be reported the day following the matches. Chalk up a New York stage win for the Wilkes-Barre Barons. They trimmed Troy in an American League skirmish this week 31-22. A suggestion from Eddie Brietz of the A. P. "If Harry Thomas' conscience is bothering him so much why doesn't he give that money he says he got for 'laying down' against Galento and Schmeling to the community funds in Philadelphia and New York where the fans were duped."

Joe Louis has made his last appearance until he boxes Arturo Godoy in the Garden, February 9. . . . Tonight, it's the White Eagles against the Hudson Polsains at the Delaware avenue court and Mary's Beauticians vs. a State College quintet. . . .

No More Football

Kansas City, Nov. 17 (AP)—Southwest high school students celebrated their second consecutive year without a football game as they bemoaned the string of victories will not be continued next fall. Celebrants smashed store windows, snarled traffic and slugged a policeman. So the board of education decreed the school, in Kansas City's most exclusive residential section, can not have a football team.

Bliss Loses on Knockout To Buford at Saugerties

Putting on a spurt to redeem himself after a poor showing two weeks ago, Joe Bliss, Ellenville heavyweight, ran into a stiff right and was knocked out by Buddy Buford, Troy negro, last night at the 9W Roller Rink.

Bliss, weighing 198, who won a dull fight over Eddie Everts of Schuylerville on the first card promoted by Washington Hook and Ladder of Saugerties, rushed out at the opening gong and slugged it out toe to toe with Buford.

There was plenty of action in the first, second and third rounds, each of the fisty gladiators taking his share of punishment. Buford, who tipped the beam at 195, caught the big blonde belter with left hooks galore, and Bliss straightened him with a series of hard rights to the jaw in return.

The crowd of more than 400 patrons applauded the bout enthusiastically for the three fast and furious rounds, and then came the fatal fourth for Bliss. Dashing out of his corner, he ran into a hail of punches and after 20 seconds had clicked off on the timer's watch, Buford let loose with a hard right to the solar plexus, that sprawled big Joe on the canvas for the count.

Following the Bliss-Buford match, put on as the semi-final, was another slam bang fistie war between Charlie Raigins, Saugerties Diamond Belt featherweight champion, and Cliff Gaskin, 133, of Amsterdam. Raigins got the decision.

These two little gamecocks opened fire early and kept up a steady barrage of punches for the whole five rounds. Both dished out and absorbed plenty of punches, but Raigins got the nod at the end. At first Gaskin was announced as the winner, but a recount of the judges' slips gave the fight to the Saugerties champion.

In the other five rounder, Frankie Piccolo, 152, of Amsterdam, received the duke over Les Brown, 158, of Albany. The two put up a slashing duel for the entire route, but Piccolo was given the fight by a shade because of his power-punching in the fourth and fifth heats.

Jimmy Albany, Kingston midweight, defeated Al Mason, 164, of Amsterdam, in a three rounder, making a good showing for his first time in the ring.

Tommy Lang, 147, Albany, scored

Street Grading Started by WPA

Thursday the local WPA started the street grading project, which has been improved, the work was started on Marius street, between Washington avenue and Wall street. When that is completed Tubby street will be next, followed by the grading of Savoy street. The project calls for the grading of approximately 20 streets in the city. Included in this street grading project is the relaying of sidewalks and the taking down of dead or dangerous trees.

Quickly You Can Make A Book Cigarette Box

Charming for Home or as Gift

A smart cigarette box for your living-room table! Make it easily from an old book—a leather-bound volume is especially handsome. But whatever your book, be sure it's at least 1½ inches thick, has a good cover.

box, cut through the book pages as shown in sketch.

Simple if you first make a cardboard pattern the exact size of the book page and on this pattern drawn and cut out a rectangle. Then place pattern on first page of book and with a sharp knife cut around the rectangle. Do a few pages at a time.

To line your box, use a prettily patterned paper. Paste on insides of both covers, over top page and cutout interior—and your box is finished.

Just as easily you can make many other smart articles for your home and for gifts. Our 32-page booklet gives full directions for making pretty and useful objects—among them a Victorian footstool, a candle holder, a mosaic tray, antique book ends—made from such things as breadboards, tin containers, embroidery hoops, odd pieces of wood.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of DECORATIVE AND USEFUL OBJECTS EVERYONE CAN MAKE to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of book-let.

Boys Are Released After Questioning Regarding Blaze

Five boys, ranging in age from 10 to 12 years, were questioned Friday afternoon by Lieutenant Charles Phinney, of the Kingston police department, who is one of the men investigating the suspicious fire in the Haberstumpf residence on South Wall street on Tuesday.

According to the police the five boys confessed to setting fire to the haystack on Condie street, two hours before the fire broke out in the South Wall street house.

After checking the story told by the boys the officials decided that the boys had nothing to do with the South Wall street fire, and they were not held.

A thorough investigation is underway, the result of which has not been disclosed.

Polish Benefit Fund Collected

At a meeting in White Eagle Hall last night of the local committee for Polish relief, the Rev. Stanislaus Malinowski, pastor of Immaculate Conception Church, announced that $542.05 had been collected for the stricken people of Poland.

Father Malinowski as honorary chairman of the committee, and Casimir Hudela, acting chairman, complimented the workers on their efforts for the cause, which they said was a most worthy one. The money will be sent to Poland as soon as a safe channel can be found.

The relief committee was made up of workers from the various parochial societies of Immaculate Conception Church. Anyone, who has not been solicited, but who would like to donate to the cause, may leave contributions at the rectory of the church.

Financial and Commercial

Business Indices Continue to Show An Upward Trend

Stocks moved upward yesterday after opening below Wednesday's closing prices, activity during the final hour being at the highest level of the day and closing prices also being best for the session. Industrials in the Dow-Jones averages made this best gain for a month, being up 1.62 points, to 151.15; there was renewed strength in rails, which advanced .68, to 33.89; utilities showed a gain of .25, to 25.93. Volume still remained comparatively light, the total being 820,000 shares.

Business indices still continue to show an upward trend. Barron's index of the physical volume of business for the week ended November 17 advanced to 88.4 percent of normal, from 86.4 in the preceding week, highest point since August, 1937, and close to the 1937 recovery high of 91.6. Carloadings remained at better than normal for this time of the year, figure for last week was 785,961 cars, a drop of 19,901 from the preceding week, which is less than seasonal.

Despite withdrawal from the market, because of strike conditions, of some 10,000 Chrysler Corp. dealers, sales of new cars and trucks remain uncommonly strong. Outside of the Chrysler makes, deliveries of 11 leading makes for the first 10 days of November were 40 per cent above last year and 112 per cent above last month. The strike by CIO union against Chrysler plants is causing permanent loss of production as orders are being cancelled and competitors get the business.

A federal jury at South Bend, Ind., last night, found General Motors Corp. and three affiliates guilty of charges of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust law in connection with automobile financing. At the same time the jury acquitted 17 officials. The decision also affects Ford and Chrysler companies, which too consented to the deal. Defense counsel said he could not understand how four corporations could be found guilty of the charge and the officials innocent.

Commodities generally showed a firmer tendency Thursday. Wheat and cotton closed higher and silk, hides and wool were up. Sugar and cocoa were off slightly, while rubber contracts were off as much as 25 points.

Nation-wide merchandisers are looking forward to one of the best final quarters in their history, and prospects for Christmas trade of retailers are seen as exceptionally bright. A factor in the situation is the broadening of rural demand due to increased farm prices.

A survey under way indicates a good deal of ignorance regarding Wall Street and the Stock Exchange. It is showing that about three-fourths of the exchange have no idea about the exchange and no interest in its fortunes. Government regulation is popular with those queried, but apparently they don't know much about what it does or the issues involved. Many, including even security holders, were found who believed that the exchange directly buys and sells securities.

Superior Oil shows net loss of $30,184 for the quarter ended September 30 vs. net income of $97,872 in the same quarter last year. Gaylord Container's net of $81,375 for the quarter compared with net year ago of $242,506.

Lights of New York

Like thousands of others in the city of the seven million, he was only a cog in a big machine. Clerk in a small office. Gray beginning to appear about his temples. His job and pay remained the same while young men were promoted. Work that should have been done by others was shoved onto his desk. His linen was always neat and clean but he wore his clothes until they were as shiny as glass. Never patronized Tony, the office bootblack, who was supporting a wife and three kids. Avoided stenographers who went around with punchboards. Never took a chance in the office baseball or football pools. Instead of eating with the rest of the gang, he patronized a small cheap place known as the "Greasy Spoon." Just an aging tightwad in a stowaway job where he would potter around until the big boss found out he wasn't worth his pay.

His home was the fourth floor of a walk-up. An old cold-water tenement. No conveniences at all. Neither he nor his wife ever went anywhere. If a play or a movie were under discussion, he kept silent. So far as office associates could determine, the bright lights of Broadway had no attraction for him. All he wanted to do when he was through with his day's work was go home and read. Not the late books. One of the stenogs found that out when she asked him questions about a novel, which had so interested her that she spent her lunch hour poring over the pages. He did his work well. Even the office manager admitted that. But still, such a life! Instead of living in New York he might just as well have been buried out in the sticks somewhere.

The office manager frowned when he came up to him. No doubt he wanted a raise. Everyone who came into the private office wanted a raise. And at the moment, raises weren't in line. The old tightwad sure did have his nerve. But he didn't want a raise. Instead, he wanted to quit—leave right away if possible. The office manager could hardly believe his ears. In the past years, the old tightwad had become a sort of fixture. But there wasn't any question about his meaning. If necessary, he'd stay the required two weeks. The office manager found it wasn't necessary. But he did shell out two weeks' pay.

City-bred, he didn't know anything about farming. But he did know much about chicken raising. The reason he hadn't had time for diversion of any sort was that there was so much studying to be done. Also saving, that he might purchase that little place upstate on which his wife and he had their eyes for so long. He had learned in another way also. He hadn't relished the "Greasy Spoon" food. But each day he had met there men who were in the poultry business. So he prospered from the start. And his wife and he agreed that the stars over their little place were far brighter than the lights of Broadway. Those acres were the goal they had set for themselves on their wedding day.

A year passed. They didn't owe a nickel. Their bank book showed a most comfortable balance. There was just one drawback. Doctors couldn't discover why he suffered so severely from asthma. Various pollen tests brought only negative results. He grew more and more ill. So ill that it seemed as if his breath would surely stop, and to get around at all he had to crawl on his hands and knees. Then the doctors sent him to a hospital.

When he came home, he wrote a letter to the office manager inquiring whether his old job was still open. The answer told him he was welcome back at increased pay. Nevertheless, as he read the news, he sighed. He really loved that little place and the freedom that went with it. But it had been found that he was allergic to chicken feathers. Logger Forgets Himself
MARYSVILLE, CALIF.—A display of step-ins was too much for a husky logger, waiting here for the logging season to open. He entered the store where the display was, appropriated two steps without the formality of paying for them, started to step out of the door when the police stepped in and took charge.

Old Coin of India Found in Rhodesia
SALISBURY, RHODESIA.—A bronze coin, 1,800 years old, which originated in northwest India, has been found by a native of southern Rhodesia. How it got to Rhodesia is a mystery. The coin was identified by British museum authorities as belonging to the Kushan dynasty of northwest India. One side of the coin shows the image of Kushan, ruler of Havisika, who flourished about 150 A. D. The coin was bought by a passing motorist from an aged native. So far as is known there are no Indians in the district who could have brought the coin in recent years.

Dr. Christian Is Retired As Elmira Superintendent

Dr. Frank L. Christian has announced his retirement, effective November 30, as superintendent, of the Elmira Reformatory. Disability, the result of injuries sustained August 19, when he was attacked by two inmates attempting to escape, is given as the reason. Dr. Christian, who is 63, entered the service in 1901 as resident surgeon at the Napanoch Reformatory, now the Institution for Delinquent. He was transferred to Elmira in that same year, was promoted to the position of assistant superintendent in 1911, and six years later was named superintendent.

Government Sues For Money Owed On Housing Loans

Suits were instituted in United States District Court in New York yesterday by the government to recover money loaned to Kingston and Rosendale residents under the National Housing Act. The defendants have defaulted, according to the complaints, a special dispatch says.

One suit is against Richard C. and Martha Dickson of 207 West Chestnut street, this city, who borrowed $459.92 on August 5, 1935, and defaulted on January 20, 1936, allegedly, when $309.49 was due.

Another action against Patrick and William Duffy, also of this city, is based on a $183.97 loan, made March 23, 1937. It was defaulted, it is claimed, on September 22, 1937, with $163.33 due. The third suit names Thomas and Florence Kristic of Rosendale defendants. They borrowed $305.82 on November 14, 1936. A balance of $233.73 is unpaid.

Finland May Borrow
Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 17 (AP)—Finland has a perfect right to borrow money from American banks, President Roosevelt said today, but he told reporters there was nothing to stories that the Baltic republic had stiffened her attitude toward Russia after obtaining promises of economic and financial aid from the United States. No such help was promised, he said in response to questions.

Ahavath Israel Ball Program for Thanksgiving Eve

The full program for Ahavath Israel ball, Wednesday night, November 22, was announced today by Herman G. Rafalowsky, president of the congregation, who promises that the show will be one of the best ever presented in the municipal auditorium.

"We've made special efforts to arrange an especially attractive program, featuring some of the headline names of the entertainment world," he said. The show was booked through the same WOR bureau that furnished the artists for the recent American Legion ball.

Heading the list for the Thanksgiving eve social, is Bunny Berigan, the man with one of the hottest swing bands on the radio.

"Berigan will be at the auditorium all night," Mr. Rafalowsky said, "and will furnish accompaniment for the show and play for dancing until 2 o'clock in the morning."

Besides Berigan there will be Harry Herschfeld, celebrated newspaper cartoonist, as master of ceremonies; Baby Rose Marie and Ruth Barr, WOR radio stars; Emily Earle, comedienne extraordinary, and Sol Straussner, popular tenor of stage and radio.

The full program is as follows: The Herschfeld, master of ceremonies.

Picture Tells the Story

Officers of the Cleveland, Ohio, police department soon will be taking pictures of speeders and presenting the pictures in court through the development of a speedometer by Capt. Walter M. Wolcott. The picture taken shows the speeding automobile, its license and its position in the streets, and reveals the speed on the specially constructed speedometer on the front of a police car.

Despite all the precautions he has taken to prevent his 80 trained elk from falling prey to hunters' guns in the Belt mountains, Montana, near his dude ranch, Cort Du Rand has his fingers crossed. The reason is that during the last open season someone shot one of his best bulls despite the fact it had a big cow bell around its neck.

WHO HE IS
SAD-EYED, 75-year-old Dr. George Washington Carver, a former slave boy who was swapped for a $300 horse, is one of America's most eminent scientists. Just recently he was awarded a Roosevelt Medal for his amazing work in developing new products from common Southern crops. His one-man exhibit which jam-packs a large museum at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, where he works, holds 1,000 products he originated. Among them are cheese made from peanuts, paper made from plants, and rugs made from okra stalks. Dr. Carver is familyless, and will tolerate only one assistant. His voice is soft, drawing, cultured. When he shuffles into his lab, all Tuskegee knows he is not to be bothered.

found that folks don't jump at new discoveries. First a discovery must pass through the knocking stage. People will say it is terrible to put out such stuff. Then comes the apathetic stage, where people are content to let it die.
"If it happens to survive both these stages, then the grand rush of exploiters begins. But money isn't what is usually most needed—rather, development sense and manufacturing wisdom."
"One reason I never patent my products is that if I did it would take so much time I would get nothing else done. But mainly, I don't want my discoveries to benefit specific favored persons. I think they should be available to all peoples."

Judge Dismisses Assault Charge

After hearing the evidence produced at the trial of John Alterwisher, 52, of Stone Ridge, charged with third degree assault by Samuel Van Kleeck, local auto dealer, Judge Matthew V. Cahill dismissed the charge. The alleged assault arose out of an automobile deal between the parties.
James Oliver, 21, truck driver of Delhi, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Officer Hess on a charge of parking the truck on a crosswalk at Wall and North streets for half an hour.

Three Men Are Injured In Auto Accident at Rifton

As the result of an automobile accident near Rifton Thursday night three Kingston men were taken to the Benedictine Hospital for treatment. ## Searselli Held For Grand Jury

Michael Anthony Searselli, 23, of Glasco is being held in the Ulster county jail awaiting action by the grand jury on a charge of forgery, third degree. The charge grows out of an alleged adoption of another man's name when he made application for registration plates for a car. Searselli was held by Justice C. H. Bennett of Saugerties after a hearing.
It is alleged that while Searselli's plates were revoked by the State Department, he made application for registration plates and used the name of Charles Gambino. There is a Charles Gambino also living at Glasco. State Police at Catskill first learned of the affair and traced down the ownership of the car with the result that Searselli was arrested and charged with forgery.
